CENTER ARMY ANNIHILATED

Two Hundred Thousand Russians Enveloped by the Japanese.

RAILROAD IS CUT

Victor's Guns Thunder at Fu Pass Only Twelve Miles from Mukden.

ARMISTICE IS ASKED FOR

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, March 10.—The correspondent at Tokyo of the Daily Telegraph says on official authority fully 200,000 Russians are enveloped, and that Russia's central army is almost annihilated. In the lobby of the house of commons last night it was rumored that Gen. Kuropatkin had asked for an armistice.

MUKDEN, March 9.—The Japanese this morning bombarded the bridge at Fu pass, on the Hun river, 12 miles east of Mukden. At present the Japanese are making most energetic attacks south of the Hun river. It is rumored that they have transferred thither some of their forces from the northwest, in anticipation of a night attack.

The Russian forces in the district of Tzuanvanche, north of Mukden, rested on their arms during the night. Shortly before dawn a large Japanese force approached the Zaraitser regiment, which allowed the Japanese to approach within 200 paces and then discharged a volley from their rifles and opened on them with quick-fire guns, mowing down the enemy, who were repulsed.

Among the prisoners brought in on Wednesday were a number of privates in new uniforms, who were from a recently-organized Japanese reserve division. There is reason to believe that another division is being landed in the northern part of Korea, for the purpose of making a demonstration against Vladivostok.

The wind today attained hurricane force. The soldiers are so covered with mud and dirt that their faces are scarcely recognizable. Gen. Kuropatkin and his staff are in little better plight. Civilians are streaming northward out of Mukden.

Immense Works Abandoned.

Preceding the retirement Tuesday night the heavy firing, which extended along the entire south front, was for the first time audible at Mukden. The evacuation of the Shakhe position involved several hundred miles of field and overland railways and telegraph, and enormous defensive works. Red Cross supplies, fuel and forage stores, the latter of which it was necessary to burn. The military roads covered 500 square miles. The smoke of battle and fires are everywhere obscuring the lines, and it is almost impossible to longer extinguish the conflagrations.

The wounded, the supports and the reserves, are obliged to dig deep on the wide, shelterless plain and lie widely extended in order to escape the shrapnel which is sown broadcast for 15 miles on the west, while all the troops on nearly 90 miles of battle line are constantly exposed.

Tie Pass Invested.

NIUCHWANG, March 9, via Tien-Tsin.—It is reported here that Tie pass has been invested by the Japanese, and that Gen. Kuropatkin, having no alternative, will probably be forced to surrender within a week. The Russians have not been reinforced from the direction of Harbin since March 1.

Gen. Nogi's army made a forced march of 26 miles daily, and acting in conjunction with Gen. Oku's army, surrounded 80,000 Russians in the direction of Tie pass and cut off their supplies.

TOKYO, March 9.—The headquarters of the Japanese armies in the field reported today as follows:

"Our force, after defeating the enemy at Maghuntan, is pursuing him in the Shakhe river direction. East of the railroad, the enemy showing signs of retreat, our whole line opened a general attack from midnight, March 7, and dislodged the enemy from his positions, pressing his force toward the Hun river.

"The whole district west of the railroad and south of the Hun river is in our hands. On the right bank of the Hun river the operations continue.

Railroad Is Cut.

"In the district north of Mukden, despite the enemy's obstinate resistance, we have occupied Siachitun, five miles northwest of Mukden; Pachiatzu, two miles northeast of Siachitun, and Santaitse, five miles north of Mukden. Our force destroyed the railroad north of Mukden."

WITH THE JAPANESE LEFT ARMIES, Wednesday, March 8, noon (Via Fusan, March 9).—The left armies have cut and destroyed the railroad between Mukden and Tie pass. The Russians are in retreat over the northern roads.

The left column of these armies is at Likampu, seven miles north of the Hun river and five miles west of the railroad, and has had a fierce fight with a Russian force thrice its number. The Russian casualties number 10,000. The Russian center is retreating in great confusion.

DAYTON'S CONFIRMATION ASSURED BY THE SENATE

WASHINGTON, March 9.—(Special.)—All objections to the confirmation of Representative A. L. Dayton for the appointment of United States judge for the Northern district of West Virginia have been removed and the nomination will be confirmed within a few days. It appears that Senators Bailey and Bacon objected because they were not acquainted with Mr. Dayton and thought they ought to be consulted, as they are members of the judicial committee.

TENTH DAY OF BLOODY FIGHT

Struggle Narrows Down to the Question of Human Endurance.

SOLDIERS STARVING

Prince of the Russian Empire Is Among Those Who Have Fallen.

CIRCLE OF STEEL CLOSING IN

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

MUKDEN, March 9.—Midnight closed the tenth day of the titanic struggle for the possession of Mukden, and the mastery of a vast empire—the tenth day of unceasing conflict under exploiting shrapnel, the roar of cannon and the whistling of bullets; the tenth day without sleep and without food. The combat is fast reaching a point where it is a question not so much of turning columns of tactics, and of strategy, as of whose strength, energy and cartridges will last the longer.

Gray-coated Russians, patient, uncomplaining, strong of soul, clung doggedly to positions against an enemy whose attacks go to the very point of insanity and desperation. For 48 hours the Japanese have not eaten. They are starving and exhausted, but Field Marshal Oyama himself has told them that the city will fall and the slaughter stop on Friday, and their confidence in their leader increases their strength ten-fold.

Wednesday, when the Russians took Ushuntan, a few dozen Japanese clung to the thick-walled temple and refused all overtures to surrender. Cannon were brought up and breached the walls, but the dare-devil courage of the defenders continued under the fire, and finally, when defense was hopeless, they blew themselves skyward with the ruins of the temple. One survivor, rather than surrender, threw himself into a stone-rimmed well and perished.

Iron Band Is Closing.

The leaders, unflinching in their sense of duty, are as unsparing of themselves as of the men who they lead to death. Stern Oyama drives and drives his troops northward to encircle the city. With every fresh flanking movement the iron band closes nearer the railroad, and under this menace the first and third armies were forced last night to abandon the mighty fortifications on the Shakhe river, give up the unpregnable Poutiloff hill and retire to the line of the Hun river.

Today the Japanese are pushing their columns north and northeast, bombarding villages which are keys of the defense, and hurling men, some of them veterans of the year's campaign, and others middle-aged reserves fresh from Japan, against Russian positions. Often they are repulsed, and sometimes they master the advanced line, but at enormous cost. Individuals and small parties have reached the railroad, cut the telegraph wires and dislodged a few rail lengths, but the damages were quickly repaired and the perpetrators usually killed or wounded.

Col. Sapolski Killed.

Around the village of Pachiatzu there raged a fierce struggle. A veteran regiment of the Imperial Rifles distinguished itself especially, members earning St. George crosses time and again in supporting and rescuing raw regiments. Lieut. Col. Sapolski, a brilliant and beloved officer, one of the heroes of Liao Yang and one of the first up Putiloff hill, who swore to die rather than surrender, was killed here.

Just behind Pachiatzu, under the shadow of a clump of pines in the Park of the Imperial Tombs, sits the commander of another division, Col. Launitz, directing the attack on Santaitse and the defense of Ushuntun. With a swish like that of the silken skirts of a well-dressed dame, Shimose shells hurtle past, and occasionally bullets whistle by. Every few minutes the telephone at his feet jingles and he reports to the commander of the army. Now a Cossack orderly gallops up and reports that the Russian troops are leaving Pachiatzu, that the Japanese have seized the village and with it the bodies of Sapolski and half his regiment. Another of the dead is Prince Makaeff, commander of the Samara regiment.

Kaulbars Defies Bullets.

In the middle of the afternoon, in a cloud of dust and surrounded by his staff and escort, Gen. Kaulbars canters up, sits quietly a few minutes under fire inspecting the positions, then continues his rounds.

Now the fight slackens. The Russians appear to be gaining ground, but in an instant of comparative stillness is heard the muffled thud and shuffle of the feet of Japanese reserves advancing on the run to restore the balance.

Uneasy sleeps Mukden tonight. In the main street lamps burn dimly. Along dark roads in heavy dust are marching columns. Near the station, in overfilled hospitals, are heard low groans. The wounded arrive in a never ceasing stream of carts, with another stream of ambulances moved northward, for the place must be cleared for today's victims. The eternal pines whisper above the tombs of Chinese emperors. In the fields watch fires are burning. The sky is lighted with the glare of burning stores and evacuated villages. The forces are gathering for today's fight.

ST. PETERSBURG IS IN THE DARK

It Does Not Even Know Whether Kuropatkin's Communication Is Destroyed.

FEARS FOR RENNENKAMPFF

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, March 10.—St. Petersburg this morning knows little more of the outcome of the battle of Mukden than it knew Wednesday night, and little more of the fate of Gen. Kuropatkin's beaten army. It is not even known whether the railroad has been cut and communication destroyed.

The most important news from Russian sources is that the Japanese already have reached the Hun river. Fu pass is only 12 miles east of Mukden and well westward of Gen. Linevitch's line of retreat. It is extremely probable that unless the Russians are able to defend the crossing at Fu pass, Gen. Rennenkampff's corps and perhaps additional forces will be cut off and have to shift for themselves in the mountainous region north of Fushun against expeditionary forces of Japanese, which are reported from Chinese sources to be racing towards Tie pass.

It was stated here yesterday that Gen. Kuropatkin had been for some time assembling a force of reserves at Tie pass and Harbin with this eventuality in view, to defend the pass and positions until he can make or fight his way back.

Gen. Nogi, according to Russian reports, has already reached a point opposite the station of Souhatai, half way between Mukden and Tie pass, but it is believed his left is swinging still further north for a blow at the line of communications, which would realize Field Marshal Oyama's plan for closing the iron ring.

Though the Japanese may have cut the telegraph lines along the railroad it is possible that field telegraph lines have been run between Fushun, where Kuropatkin may have his headquarters, and Tie pass, thus accounting for the seeming conflict in the advices from Tokyo and St. Petersburg regarding the severance of the Russian line of communications.

It is said here that Gen. Kuropatkin with his headquarters staff is now at Fankiatung station on the railroad, ten miles below Tie pass. In addition to the Eastern Chinese railway and the Mandarin road it turns out that the Russians have a narrow gauge railroad connecting Mukden with Tie pass over which to effect their withdrawal from their positions.

HEAR SAD RITES OVER TELEPHONE

Allegheny Druggist, Lying on Hospital Cot, Cannot Attend Wife's Funeral.

SCIENCE LIGHTENS SORROW

Lying in a cot in the Allegheny General hospital, with two compound fractures of his left leg, Benjamin P. Welsch, an Allegheny druggist, will listen to the funeral services over the remains of his wife, Margaret Hill Welsch, who died last night. A telephone will connect his cot in the hospital with the reception hall of his home on Fairview avenue, where the services will be held Sunday afternoon.

Hurrying home late Monday night with medicine for his wife, who had suddenly developed a severe case of pneumonia, Mr. Welsch fell as he stepped from a street car at Fairview and Perrysville avenue, and fractured his leg in two places. The streets were deserted, and he shouted for help without response. Then he began to crawl slowly and painfully toward his home, over 150 yards from the car line. He had almost reached his front steps when assistance arrived and he was taken into the house. On Tuesday Mr. Welsch was taken to the hospital, where he would receive better care and attention than could be given him at his home.

Mrs. Welsch steadily grew worse from Monday until her death occurred last evening, when she slept quietly away.

On New Year's day the parents buried their infant son, Willard Hill Welsch, and since that time Mrs. Welsch has been in very poor health. Several weeks ago she was seized with a slight attack of the grip, which seemed to be yielding to treatment until its sudden development into pneumonia on Monday night.

Mrs. Welsch was the daughter of Joseph C. and the late Margaret McClure Hill, formerly of Oil City, at which place she was born 36 years ago. The family came to Allegheny in 1891 and she was married to Benjamin P. Welsch in 1898. She was a member of the Fourth United Presbyterian church of Allegheny and leaves her husband and a 6-year-old son, Benjamin G. Welsch. She is also survived by her father and four sisters, Mrs. Joseph Knipschild, Ben Avon; Mrs. W. R. Lay, Oil City, and Bertha and Amelia Hill, Avalon, Pa.

MRS. CHADWICK MAY WIN SUIT

Acquittal Expected, Although Judge Ruled Against Motion.

PRISONER IS HOPEFUL

Mr. Carnegie Done and Pay Ready—Court Instrumental in Withdrawal of Counts.

LETTERS COMPETENT EVIDENCE

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM
JEROME NORDMAN, Staff Correspondent.

CLEVELAND, March 9.—The case of Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick will be given to the jury likely tomorrow evening. An acquittal is almost generally expected. Much will depend on the charge to the jury by Judge Tayler, especially his view on the participation necessary to form a conspiracy.

Arguments for and against a motion that Judge Tayler take the case out of the hands of the jury and acquit the prisoner, and which resulted in a denial by the court, occupied the whole day in the Chadwick trial today.

Notwithstanding her clearly noticeable disappointment in being ruled against on the motion to acquit, Mrs. Chadwick stated at adjournment this afternoon: "I am satisfied with the outlook. The jury is, I'm sure, intelligent and conscientious. I do not believe any of them ever had a note discounted, but general banking has been thoroughly explained to them during the trial. I am very hopeful of the outcome."

Shortly before she was taken back to jail Mrs. Chadwick conversed for a few moments with Mrs. Beckwith and the latter's son and daughter. The conversation seemed to be of a most pleasant nature. Miss Bessie Johnson, the actress, and daughter of "Tom" Johnson, mayor of Cleveland, was an interested and front row spectator during the entire day.

Mr. Carnegie Leaves Today.

Andrew Carnegie was not in court today and leaves for New York city tomorrow afternoon. He has served the purpose of keeping the defense from introducing certain evidence, which he would have been called upon to refute.

He has given his assurance to both United States District Attorney John J. Sullivan and County Prosecutor Harvey Keeler that he will be ready and willing to come back to testify in any of the subsequent state or government cases which may be brought against Mrs. Chadwick should it be deemed necessary that he testify. While here Mr. Carnegie refused to state whether or not he contemplated offering any further assistance to the depositors who suffered by the failure of the Oberlin bank, stating that at this time he had no statement to offer in the matter. He stated tonight that there was no foundation for the report that he was going to Oberlin tomorrow.

United States Marshal Chandler today made out a check for $64 40 to Mr. Carnegie's order, his witness fee, and it is held in the marshal's office, pending Mr. Carnegie's call for it. If he does not call it will be mailed to him.

Jury Sent from Room.

After T. C. Doolittle, a local professional accountant, had testified for the defense that entries on the books of the Oberlin bank showed that Mrs. Chadwick had credit; and A. B. Marshal, a Cleveland bank cashier, had identified Mrs. Chadwick's handwriting on several checks, the defense announced that it would offer a motion to have the case taken from the jury and a verdict of acquittal rendered by the jury.

Judge Tayler then instructed all witnesses to leave the room and also the jury, telling the latter: "You will be excused until 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. Please leave the room and, preferably, the building." When the jury reported after the noon recess it was again excused for the balance of the day.

After arguments lasting through the greater part of the day, Judge Tayler, just prior to the afternoon adjournment, overruled the motion. The defense also attacked two counts of the indictments, and asked that certain parts of the testimony offered by the government be stricken out. An admission from the judge that he did not regard the two counts as "good" was the extent of the satisfaction secured by the defense. The acquittal of the defendant was asked on the ground that the indictment charged her with conspiring to commit an offense against the United States in that she conspired with Beckwith and Spear to certify illegally checks of the Oberlin bank.

Could Not Certify Checks.

It was claimed by the attorneys for the defense that Mrs. Chadwick, not being an officer of the bank, could not certify checks, and that she could not be charged under the law with conspiring to commit an offense in conjunction with others which she had not the power to commit alone. In stating his contention to the court, Judge Wing for the defense said:

"The charge in this case is not certifying checks. It is conspiring to certify checks. A conspiracy between an official of a bank and a person not an official of the bank to certify checks is impossible for the reason that it requires two to conspire and the person and a bank official not having the power to certify checks cannot conspire to certify them."

He claimed also that Mrs. Chadwick could not be punished even granting the allegations of the state, that the checks had been illegally certified. There was, in the United States statutes, according to the speaker, no punishment provided for others than officials of national banks for fraudulently certifying checks, and therefore no other person could be punished for certifying them or conspiring to certify.

Puts Hypothetical Case.

"Now, let me get at this," said Judge Tayler. "Suppose a married woman conspired with a married man to marry that man to another woman, thus contracting

KANSAS MIND IS CHANGING

Oil Legislation Grows Less Popular in a Single Day.

HAVE FOREBODINGS

Prospective Attitude of the Prairie Company Is Agitating the Public.

BONDS MUST STAND THE TEST

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM
ALFRED R. CRUM, Staff Correspondent.

TOPEKA, KAN., March 9.—The feeling is growing here since the legislators have gone home and the lobby has scattered that the session has not been a complete success. When I came here there were few who would tolerate the suggestion that Kansas might injure itself by attacking the oil and railroad companies. The general opinion was that Kansas had never had a more able or brilliant general assembly. Kansas public opinion can change readily, and there are whispers already that some things are not what they seem.

The failure of the second batch of bills leaves doubt whether the state can compel the Prairie Oil and Gas Company to do anything, and the opinion grows that the state refinery will be a costly experiment. If the maximum rates bill holds there is hope that it will encourage the advent of independent refineries, though it is realized that Kansas oil cannot go out of the state under the same favorable terms.

Public Sentiment Changing.

A week ago no one cared what the Prairie company might do. Today the question is being asked what it will do. The best information at hand is that it will continue to operate the plant it has, unless further interfered with; that it will continue to buy oil on the old scale of prices as long as it has storage room; that it will build no more tankage than that under way and that it will make no more pipe line extensions. Thus the field will be open to independent refineries and pipe liners who care to compete with the state refinery or accept the restrictions imposed by the maximum rates and anti-discrimination laws. If this attitude is maintained the Kansas producer will soon be trying to sell his oil at half the present prices.

One Refiner Pleased.

Refiner C. W. Webster of Humboldt is pleased. He wired Gov. Hoch the other day that under the new rate bill he had made a shipment of refined oil for $27 that would have cost him $78 under former conditions. The governor transmitted the message and the thanks of Mr. Webster to the legislature. This is evidence that the railroads have accepted the rate bill for the present, at least. If it stands the test and continues in force it ought to help some. It is the best bill of the lot that has passed. It may be a bit drastic in its reductions of freight rates on an inflammable commodity, but it is likely to have the effect of reconciling some of the railroads to the rate regulation proposed by the Townsend-Esch bill, pending in congress.

Unquestionably the attitude of the national senate toward President Roosevelt's recommendations in this matter had much to do with the arousing of Kansas public sentiment, which led to the adoption of the extreme measures passed here. That sentiment is not dead, or dying, though there is a reaction of feeling on the point that Kansas has gone a little too far in the state refinery matter. In fact, the Kansas legislative spree is a forcible fulfillment of the editorial prediction of The Gazette that if the senate should resist the wise recommendations of President Roosevelt there would come an epidemic of extreme state attacks upon vested interests in the Populist states in the west. Kansas has merely been first.

Always Appose Corporate Wealth.

Kansas is as thoroughly Populist at heart now as when it enlisted under the banner of William Jennings Bryan to unburden itself of the "cross of gold and the crown of thorns." It never was Democratic. The payment of its mortgages convinced Kansas of the folly of the Bryan financial heresies, but its antagonism to corporate wealth has not weakened. In the fullness of time prosperity and increasing wealth may make the average Kansan a conservative, but he is not conservative now. Aside from the universal desire to gain undying fame by emulating the late John Brown, the typical Kansan is opposed to restraint and an inveterate enemy of every impersonal agency that makes him pay tribute. In his commonwealth of long distances every railroad rate is to him an extortion; the concern that buys his wheat or cattle is to him a robber; the company that sells him kerosene or machinery is a thief.

To return to the oil and gas legislation. The bills that have passed are: The state refinery bill. It appropriates $10,000 for the construction of a state prison, stockade, etc., for the safekeeping of prisoners at the town of Peru, in Chautauqua county. It authorizes the employment of such prisoners in the refining of oil. It authorizes the issue of state bonds to the amount of $200,000, the proceeds to be expended for the erection of an oil refinery to have a capacity of 1,000 barrels a day; the construction of tanks, pipe lines and necessary appurtenances for the state refinery.

Test Will Come on the Bonds.

It appropriates out of the state treasury $200,000 to be used by the warden of the penitentiary in the purchase of crude oil, the manufacture and marketing of refined oil and the by-products of the same. The legal test will be made on the bonds, which the auditor general will refuse to issue until taken into court, the court to pass upon the constitutionality of the act. The constitution prohibits the state from engaging in commercial business, but the courts upheld a law authorizing the employment of convicts in the manufacture of binder twine.

The law declaring oil pipe lines to be common carriers, subject to all the provisions of laws governing common carriers, it is said by some lawyers cannot be enforced. The amendment to the general statutes intended to cover the defect fell in the house, though on third reading, when the time limit expired.

The bill fixes maximum rates for the transportation of oil as follows:

Distance, Miles.	Column 1. Single-line Rates.	Column 2. D'uble-line Rates.
6 and less	2.5 cents	4.0 cents
10 and over 6	3	4.5
15 and over 10	3.5	5

Penalty for Discrimination.

The law prohibiting discriminations reads as follows:

Section 1. Any person, firm or corporation, foreign or domestic, doing business in the state of Kansas, and engaged in the production, manufacture or distribution of any commodity in general use that shall intentionally for the purpose of destroying competition, discriminate between different sections, communities or cities of this state, by selling such commodity at a lower rate in one section, community or city or any portion thereof than is charged for such commodity in another section, community or city, after equalizing the distance from the point of production, manufacture or distribution and freight rates therefrom, shall be deemed guilty of unfair discrimination.

Sec. 2. If complaint shall be made to the charter board of Kansas that any corporation chartered in this state or authorized to do business therein is guilty of unfair discrimination within the terms of this act, it shall be the duty of the charter board to institute an inquiry as to such discrimination, giving to the party complained against notice and reasonable opportunity to be heard; and if in the judgment of such charter board, or a majority thereof, any corporation, foreign or domestic, shall have been guilty of unfair discrimination within the terms of this act, the said charter board shall so find, and make a record of such fact upon the records of the charter board, and shall immediately forfeit the charter of such corporation, if it be a domestic corporation, or, if it be a foreign corporation, shall immediately forfeit the permit of such foreign corporation to do business in this state.

Sec. 3. If, after the revocation of such charter, in the case of a domestic corporation, or of its permit, if it be a foreign corporation, any corporation shall continue or attempt to do business in the state of Kansas, it shall be the duty of the attorney general, by a proper suit in the name of the state of Kansas, to oust such corporation from all business of every kind and character in said state of Kansas.

Sec. 4. Any person, firm or corporation violating the provisions of this act, upon conviction thereof, shall forfeit to the state of Kansas the sum of $1,000 for each and every violation of this act; said sum to be recovered by a suit in the name of the state of Kansas in any court of competent jurisdiction, by the attorney general. All sums collected under this act shall be credited to the permanent school fund of the state of Kansas.

Sec. 5. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its publication in the official state paper.

Hearst Was Soon Discovered.

A bill prohibiting the placing of a suction pump on any gas well, but permitting the employment of compressor pumps on pipe lines, limited to a maximum pressure of 400 pounds to the square inch, originally proposed to prohibit any pumping of gas. The amendment will be recognized as a most skillful transmogrification of the act to secure an entirely different result. The discrimination bill has also been made to turn on the question of "intention" to destroy competition. Lawyers should be able to recognize the difficulty of proving an intent in court.

Such is the status of the famous Kansas raid on Standard Oil. It is not as bad as it looked at first. The Hearst-Monnett invasion gave Speaker Stubbs a valuable leverage with Republican members in stopping the more drastic and extraordinary measures introduced by Senators Smith and Fitzpatrick, as it was not difficult to convince real Republicans that Mr. Hearst is not working in the interest of their party.

MAY BRING DISASTER.

Prairie Company's Assistant Manager Declares It Impossible to Comply With Kanasas Oil Laws.

CHANUTE, KAS., March 9.—The order of the Prairie Oil and Gas company to run no more oil below 30 degrees, which practically means a renewal of the boycott of the Kansas field, will, it is believed, result disastrously to those individuals and companies which had resumed operations.

John O'Brien, assistant manager of the Prairie company, in a statement said that it was impossible to comply with the laws passed by the Kansas legislature. He also said that there is no connection between the Prairie company and the Standard Oil company. The Prairie Oil and Gas company would, he said, welcome the fullest investigation of all its transactions in the state.

RAILROADS CHANGED RATES.

Testimony Against the Santa Fe Is Produced to Show Discrimination in the Oil Fields.

TOPEKA, KAS., March 9.—In depositions taken today in the suit brought against the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway Company it developed that all of the Kansas railroads in the Missouri freight bureau changed their classification and tariff sheets about the time the Kansas oil field began to give promise of becoming important. Under the change the only petroleum which would be served for transportation in tank cars was that destined to a "consignee who possesses storage facilities for the oil after it reached its destination."

This order practically prohibited independent refiners from distributing their oil, as they were unable to erect storage tanks in all of the towns to which they shipped oil.

PROMPT PAYMENT.

On January 23 last Mr. Donald C. Scofield, an architect of Cleveland, O., took a $5,000 and $10,000 combination policy in the Central Accident Insurance Company of Pittsburgh. He was one of the unfortunate members of the Engineers' corps going to Washington and was killed in the railroad disaster just west of Pittsburgh on March 3.

The Central Accident Insurance Company has this day sent check for $10,000, payable to Mr. Scofield's mother, the beneficiary in the policy, thus emphasizing the value of accident insurance, and the prompt manner in which the Central Accident Insurance Company of Pittsburgh pays its claims.

DID NOT BOOM MR. FAIRBANKS

National Editorial Association Expressed No Preference for Presidency.

FORAKER HAS A FOLLOWING

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., March 9.

In the most emphatic terms the officers and delegates to the National Republican Editorial association deny the report sent out from here last night that they have started a presidential boom for Vice President Fairbanks. It is insisted that no preference was expressed for Fairbanks in the proceedings of the meeting. Taking advantage of the address of welcome delivered by the vice president to the editorial association, the friends of Fairbanks attempted yesterday to stampede the association for Fairbanks.

W. S. Capeller of Mansfield, O., president of the association, in discussing the report, said tonight:

> Great injustice has been done the National Republican Editorial association by the publication of statements to the effect that a boom for Vice President Fairbanks for the Republican presidential nomination in 1908 was launched at the meeting of the association yesterday. The publication is without foundation in fact. No mention whatever was made of Mr. Fairbanks as a presidential candidate in the meeting of the association, and I have heard no expressions of the kind among the delegates, more than that, it is strictly against the code of the National Editorial association to have candidates for any office. The association does not make platforms, nor select candidates. Its mission is solely, so far as politics is concerned, to assist the party organization throughout the country.
> Mr. Fairbanks delivered an address of welcome at our meeting yesterday and tendered us a reception last evening, but the tribute that was paid him was paid him as vice president, not as a presidential possibility. The members of the association have the very kindliest feeling for Mr. Fairbanks, but they are not seeking to advance his political interests, and can but resent any attempts to use the association for that purpose.
> Speaking for myself and for the Ohio member of the association, I can say that we are particularly friendly to Senator Foraker as a presidential possibility. I talked with several of the New York delegates today and learned that they, too, are especially friendly to Ohio's senior senator. They recognize that Foraker is a great, big, broad-guaged man, an able lawyer, one of the most efficient members of the senate, and a man who would rally a great personal following as a party leader. Furthermore, they realize that Foraker is well thought of by the present administration, and know what Foraker did for Roosevelt in 1903 in leading the fight to procure Roosevelt's indorsement by the Ohio state convention at a time when there was an organized movement throughout the country to defeat Roosevelt for the nomination for president at last year's national convention.

DUAL GOVERNMENT WOULD BE A CURSE

But Lord Rosebery Says the Liberals Favor Administrative Reform in Ireland.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, March 9.—Lord Rosebery in a speech before the city of London Liberal club tonight said that while the Liberal party sympathized with Ireland and was willing to proceed along the lines of administrative reform, "there is one thing to which no wise statesman ever will expose the country, namely the curse of a dual government. We have sufficient warnings in the example of Norway and Sweden and Austria and Hungary."

Lord Rosebery said that after British ships had been ordered from Port Arthur by Russia and sent to Venezuela at the request of Germany, Britons had little further humiliation to expect at the hands of a Liberal government. The latter, if asked, would renew the Anglo-Japanese alliance, gladly, he had little doubt.

The bricklayers and stonemasons conferred yesterday with the Master Bricklayers' association. No settlement was reached, and they will meet again today.

MEMBERS OF FORAKER CLUB HOLD BANQUET

Ellis Declares Republican Party Must Stand for "Square Deal." Enthusiasm Reigned.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

YOUNGSTOWN, O., March 9.—The seventh annual banquet of the Foraker Republican club here tonight was attended by 300 members and guests. The Hon. James M. Kennedy, congressman from the Eighteenth district, presided and introduced S. D. Jackson, the toastmaster. "Our Club," was responded to by the Hon. A. W. Jones. The Hon. Wade H. Ellis, attorney general of the state, talked on the "New Issues in State and Nation." He said in part: "This nation will never consent to any monopoly of the things essential to human comfort or national development. Neither the lawless trust nor the government itself will ever chain the genius or the labor of American freemen. The duty of the Republican party is to stand for 'a square deal for every man.' The duty of the Republican party is to vigorously enforce the law of the land without fear or favor against those who abuse the power of wealth."

"What Next?" was the toast responded to by W. S. Anderson, who discussed the future of the Republican party. "They, Too, Have Their Reward," was the toast responded to by G. P. Gillmer of Niles. John T. Harrington responded to "The Young Man in Politics." "Roosevelt" was responded to by City Solicitor S. S. Conroy.

DETECTIVES HAD TROUBLE.

Allegheny Policeman Interfered With Pittsburgh Officers Who Were Trying to Arrest Pickpockets.

Detectives Leff, Aymer and Sieffert experienced some trouble arresting Charles Fisher and Harry Pryor, alleged professional pickpockets, in Allegheny yesterday. The officers were compelled to use force, as one of the special officers of Allegheny interfered in behalf of the thieves.

Recently several complaints have been made by persons who were robbed on street cars in the lower section of this city. The officers got a description of the men and were satisfied they knew the thieves. They made information against three of them as "John Doe," went to Allegheny and placed the suspects under arrest. Fisher objected to accompanying the detectives, and resisted Aymer. The officer soon overpowered him and started to drag him over the Ninth street bridge.

An Allegheny policeman who did not know the detectives went to Fisher's assistance. The detectives had some trouble in convincing him of their identity and mision, and after doing so brought two of their men over the river. The third suspect got away during the altercation between the detectives and the special officer. Fisher and Pryor are well known and have been under arrest here before as pickpockets. Fisher lives at 250 East Fiftieth street, New York.

a bigamous marriage. It is impossible for the woman conspiring to marry the other woman. Do you therefore claim that she could not be punished for conspiracy to commit bigamy because it was impossible for her, in that particular case, to commit bigamy herself?"

"That is exactly my contention," replied Judge Wing. "When, as in this case, the indictment alleges that she 'conspired to commit.' If the allegation was that she conspired to procure the commission of a crime, it would apply, but it does not apply in this case."

"How do you regard the Scott case?" asked the judge.

This refers to a decision recently handed down by the United States circuit court of appeals in Cincinnati, where it was held that a prisoner who conspired with the official of a bank to procure the making of a certain entry on the books of a bank designed to cover up a shortage in the funds of the bank was, although having no hand in the making of the entry, as guilty of conspiracy as was the man who made it. Judge Wing contended that the cases were different, in that Mrs. Chadwick could not certify checks, whereas the prisoner in the Scott case could make the entry on the books if given an opportunity.

Rests Case on Decision.

District Attorney Sullivan, in arguing for the government spoke very briefly. He claimed the indictment in the Scott and said he rested his case upon it. He claimed the indictment in the Scott case and in the Chadwick case were similar and that the cases correspond in other respects. Attorney Dawley, in closing for the defendant, asserted that the indictments in the two cases were not similar. In the Scott case the indictment declared that the defendants conspired "one with another, and together." In the Chadwick case the allegation was that she conspired with Beckwith, and there was no charge that Beckwith conspired with her.

He asked that the letters submitted yesterday, in which Mrs. Chadwick sought to make arrangements for the certification of checks, when she had no money in the bank, and as a result of which, one check was certified several days before it was signed by Mrs. Chadwick, be taken from the testimony. He argued that this was a promise that the money would be present at the time, the check would be signed, and not properly speaking a check at all. He asked that two counts referring to this check be stricken from the indictment. In regard to the letters he insisted that they were not competent. Although Mrs. Chadwick had written them there was no evidence in the case to show that she had ever mailed them; nothing to show that they had been received by Beckwith or Spear, or had influenced them in any way.

Decided by Previous Decision.

Judge Taylor, in deciding the motion, asking the removal of the case from the jury, declared that the court of appeals had in the Scott case covered the questions raised by the defense and that it was therefore overruled. He did not regard the two counts of the indictment as good, and District Attorney Sullivan said that he was willing that they should be killed. The letters, Judge Taylor said, were competent evidence. There was nothing in the case to show that they had ever been received by Spear or Beckwith, but they were, however, statements made by the prisoner, and he would allow them to remain, declaring that he would in his charge instruct the jury concerning them.

Both sides rested their cases.

Tomorrow Assistant District Attorney Geary will present the opening argument for the government; both Attorneys Wing and Dawley will follow for the defense, and District Attorney Sullivan will conclude for the government.

RENNENKAMPFF'S HEROES JUSTIFIED HIS FAITH

Took Positions Which He Confidently Sent Them Forth to Recapture. Japanese General Killed.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

GEN. RENNENKAMPFF'S HEADQUARTERS, MAYADALI, MANCHURIA, Tuesday, March 7.—Morning.—In pursuance of orders to retake at any cost the positions at Cubenepusa lost at nightfall, the Russians at midnight stormed and recaptured the hills in the center. A weird review preceded the attack, as the regiments selected for this service filed past Gen. Rennenkampff in dead silence with pale, set faces illuminated by the rays of the moon. As the last set of fours passed the general turned his horse and departed saying:

"Send me word when you succeed."

His confidence was justified, for without a shout or firing a shot the storming column swept like a tidal wave over the successive lines of Japanese covering the hills.

Among the Russian and Japanese dead on the hills was a Japanese general in full uniform.

TO HARRISBURG AGAIN.

Opponents and Advocates of Greater Pittsburgh Bill Will Attend a Hearing Before the Senate Committee.

Advocates and opponents of the bill for the annexation of Allegheny to Pittsburgh will go to Harrisburg on Tuesday to attend a hearing before the senate committee on municipal affairs. J. W. Wardrop, secretary of the Merchants' and Manufacturers association, was notified yesterday by Senator D. A. Wilbert that the hearing would be held, and he suggested to Logan McKee, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, that efforts be made to secure a big crowd of advocates of Greater Pittsburgh to go to Harrisburg.

The opponents of the Greater Pittsburgh bill will also go down to Harrisburg in force on Tuesday. Their object is to impress the senate committee with the idea that Allegheny desires that any bill adopted by both house give Allegheny the right to have a separate vote on the question. The opponents of the present bill will tell the senate committee that they greatly prefer the bill giving Allegheny a separate vote, introduced by Representative John R. Murphy.

Petitions signed by Alleghenians asking that a Greater Pittsburgh bill be adopted are coming every day to the chamber of commerce, whose superintendent, George H. Anderson, is chairman of the Greater Pittsburgh committee. As soon as received they are forwarded to Harrisburg.

Among the opponents of the Greater Pittsburgh bill who will go before the senate committee are Attorney W. C. Gill, who presided over the meeting last week, and Harvey Henderson.

COSTLY SCHOOL FIRE.

Philadelphia's $1,500,000 Building Is Damaged to Extent of $150,000. Observatory Ruined.

PHILADELPHIA, March 9.—The new boys' high school at Broad and Green streets, considered one of the finest structures of the Norman type in the country, and built and furnished at a cost of more than $1,500,000, was damaged by fire and water today to the extent of about $150,000, after all the classes had been dismissed.

The greatest loss was the contents of the observatory. The main telescope, costing $25,000; a number of other instruments, and an instrument segregating the colors of the sun, of which there are only four in the world, were damaged beyond repair. The valuable library of Prof. Monroe B. Snyder, containing books and papers on astronomy that cannot be replaced, was also destroyed.

GOTHAM'S STRIKE IS REPUDIATED

Grand Chief Stone of National Union Declares It Unauthorized and Illegal.

SHOWS SIGNS OF COLLAPSE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, March 9.—The most interesting development in the subway and elevated railway strike situation today was the stand taken by some of the national labor leaders in repudiating the action of the local leaders, who ordered and are conducting the strike.

The first intimation the public had that the strike was not indorsed by the national union came in a statement from Grand Chief Warren S. Stone, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, to which the motormen belong. Mr. Stone insisted the strike was a violation of the laws of the national union, the men having broken their contract with the Interborough company. He ordered the men to report for duty, failing which, expelling from the organization is threatened.

W. D. Mahon, national president of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes of America, issued a statement tonight similar in tenor to that issued by Warren S. Stone. President Mahon says the strike was not authorized by the national body and that the strikers must go back to work.

The local leaders of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers have issued a joint statement at strike headquarters in which they declare that Warren S. Stone did not issue any statement to them this afternoon ordering them to return to work and declaring the national body not in sympathy with their strike. The statement continues that the strike has just begun; that the men will fight to the bitter end and that they are confident of winning.

Harry Johnson, secretary of the local union of engineers, declared the men would not go back until they had won their point, the local union having sufficient money to carry on the strike without aid from the national union.

Nothwithstanding the efforts of the local leaders there were indications around strike headquarters that at least some of the men were ready to give up the fight against the company. Early this evening several of the old motormen were found in their regular trains and admitted that they had taken Mr. Stone's advice. The service in the subway tonight was almost perfect, the local trains being run during the rush hours on schedule time, while the express train maintained a three-minute headway.

On the elevated lines the service was not so good, this, however, being due to the fact that the company had decided to first perfect the running of trains in the subway.

Mr. Stone left for Cleveland tonight. He said: "The strike is virtually over."

CAN ENJOIN OLEO DEALERS.

State Supreme Court Sustains the Right of Courts of Quarter Sessions.

PHILADELPHIA, March 9.—After a two-years' fight on the constitutionality of the law empowering quarter sessions courts to issue injunctions against dealers held for court charged with illegal traffic in oleomargarine, the supreme court declared that such act is constitutional.

The test was made in the case against W. M. Andrews of this city, who was enjoined by Judge Bregy, in May, 1903, after an indictment had been found against him from selling oleomargarine until the case pending was disposed of. Mr. Andrews' attorneys appealed to the superior court in July, 1903, and the action of the lower court was sustained. The case was then appealed to the supreme court.

HOW TO SELECT A PIANO.

Pittsburg, March 9.—A great many people do not realize the importance in the selection of a piano. As a rule it means a companion for a lifetime. Should the instrument you purchase in a few years become tin-panny in tone, or the action lose its responsiveness, you will always be dissatisfied with your piano. If you select a world standard make, such as the genuine Chickering or Hardman pianos, which have the sweet and mellow tone that lasts a lifetime, you will always be satisfied and the instrument will be a pleasure to your home for years to come. The latest creation in artistic piano building is the small quarter grand. It occupies practically the same space as an upright and the price is only $650. This small quarter grand is a model for the entire piano industry, and is conceded by musicians and experts in piano construction to be the smallest perfect grand piano made. It is a work of art. These world renowned pianos are sold exclusively by W. F. Frederick, 635 Smithfield st., Pittsburgh, Pa. G. & W. Schroeder, Managers. Largest stock of pianos in Pittsburg. The Value of The Angelus In the Home

NO TONGUE CAN TELL SUFFERING

From Itching and Bleeding Eczema—Pain Terrible—Body and Face Covered with Sores—Doctors and Medicines Failed.

ANOTHER WONDERFUL CURE BY CUTICURA

"No tongue can tell how I suffered for five years with itching and bleeding eczema, until I was cured by the Cuticura Remedies, and I am so grateful I want the world to know, for what helped me will help others. My body and face were covered with sores. One day it would seem to be better, and then break out again with the most terrible pain and itching. I have been sick several times, but never in my life did I experience such awful suffering as with this eczema. I had made up my mind that death was near at hand, and I longed for that time when I would be at rest. I had tried many different doctors and medicines without success, and my mother brought me the Cuticura Remedies, insisting that I try them. I began to feel better after the first bath with Cuticura Soap, and one application of Cuticura Ointment. I continued with the Soap and Ointment, and have taken four bottles of Cuticura Resolvent, and consider myself well. Any person having any doubt about this wonderful cure by the Cuticura Remedies can write to my address. Mrs. Altie Etson, Bellevue, Mich."

ITCHING ECZEMA

And All Other Itching and Scaly Eruptions Cured by Cuticura.

The agonizing itching and burning of the skin, as in eczema; the frightful scaling, as in psoriasis; the loss of hair and crusting of scalp, as in scalled head; all demand a remedy of almost superhuman virtues to successfully cope with them. That Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills are such stands proven beyond all doubt.

Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills are sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Boston, Sole Proprietors. Send for "How to Cure Eczema."

Sample Pianos

Two New York Manufacturers sent us three sample pianos for our examination, and incidentally expected to sell us a large order. We found them splendid instruments, as to tone and workmanship, but they arrived at a time when our floors are overstocked, and we have no room for them. So rather than ship them back we offer them at the following low prices: One $350 upright, mahogany case, $150; one $500 mahogany case, $275; one $250 upright, richly carved case, $150. Easy terms if desired. Guaranteed for 10 years.

BOOTH & FLINN READY TO FIGHT

Will Oppose Giving Gillespie Contracts on Which They Are Lowest Bidders.

TROUBLE OVER FILTER JOB

"If they try to take contracts 3 and 10 from us there will be trouble," said George H. Flinn, treasurer of Booth & Flinn, yesterday, when he was told that Director Bigelow and Mayor Hays were considering the plan of giving all of the 10 contracts for the filtration plant to the T. A. Gillespie Company, instead of letting the five contracts separately to the lowest bidders.

"We are the lowest bidder on contracts 3 and 9 and 10. There is only a difference of $210 on contract 9 between us and the Allis-Chalmers Company, but on contract 3 we are about $13,000 below Gillespie, and on contract 10 we are $11,000 below Gillespie. Is there any reason why these two contracts should be taken away from us and given to Gillespie at a price $24,000 higher than ours?"

"They might do it on the assumption that the Gillespie firm is the 'most responsible bidder,'" was suggested.

"They would have to prove that," was Mr. Flinn's response. "Our capitalization is larger than the Gillespie company's. Contract 10 is for a pipe line from Highland reservoir to the South Side, and we have been laying about all the pipe in this section. We got a contract from the Philadelphia Company the other day to lay over 100 miles of pipe. I estimate that if all the work goes to Gillespie, it will cost the city about $50,000 more than it would if the contracts were let to the lowest bidder; I do not think the controller would sign contracts unless they are let to the lowest bidders."

It developed yesterday that contract 5, for sand warsher pumps, electric machinery and auxiliary equipment, for which $70,000 was appropriated, is secured by the Heine Safety Boiler Company, instead of Booth & Flinn. The Heine company's bid was $53,939, Booth & Flinn's $56,930. The Allis-Chalmers Company still holds contract 4, for centrifugal pumps and engines, at a bid of $81,250.

Director Bigelow and Mayor Hays both said yesterday that if there were only a few thousand dollars difference in the bids, it would be better to give the contracts for the entire plant to one contractor, claiming that one man could look after the work better than several contractors, and could push it faster. Booth & Flinn, however, are prepared to make a fight if the director and the mayor attempt to give the whole job to the Gillespie company. The awards will be announced next Tuesday morning.

It is stated that the total bid of the Gillespie firm is $5,600,000, or only $400,000 below the actual appropriations. As evidenced by the Negley run sewer contract, it is shown that the $400,000 difference between the bids and the appropriations in the filter contracts can be consumed by allowances for extra work. The Negley run sewer contract was awarded to James H. McQuade for $62,000, McQuade underbidding other contractors. There is pending in councils an ordinance authorizing the payment to McQuade of $4,944 for extra work on the contract, making the total cost of the job $66,494.

Readers of this paper interested in the safe and profitable investment of their surplus funds should write the bank for a free copy of this booklet. WILL NOT MOVE FOR TWO YEARS

Citizens Party Takes Lease for That Length of Time on Present Headquarters.

EITHER FUSION OR THREAT

The leaders of the Citizens party are paying no attention to Director Bigelow's mysterious hints that they are to take the place of the present officers of the Republican city and county organizations, and are getting ready for another fusion campaign for the county offices. They have correctly read the lesson of the recent election returns, and realize that their only hope is to join with the Democrats. The fusionists were beaten at the last county election, and the Republicans are confident that they can do the trick again.

In the line of preparation for the fusion campaign the Citizens headquarters were yesterday leased for two years more, beginning April 1. The county headquarters will be there during the campaign, and before and afterwards it will be the city committee's headquarters, as it has been for the last two years.

J. D. O'Neil returned yesterday. He said he had been in New York on personal business and passed through Washington on his way back, but did not see Senator Penrose and talked with no Republican leader concerning the political situation here.

O'Neil is impressed with the county organization which the Republican chairman, Thomas J. Ford, has built up, and he intends to try his hand at making as fit a body of political workers. At present the Citizens county committee is but a name, and O'Neil himself is only acting county chairman. The Citizens county committee, when reorganized, will consist of 32 men, the leaders concluding that a few picked men can be controlled easier than can a large body like the Republican county committee. They are chosen by legislative districts, two to each member of the legislature. In such a small body the preponderance of committeemen who live in the cities will be more effective than in a larger body.

While the Citizens are moving as if fusion were a foregone conclusion the leaders in Pittsburgh and Allegheny will continue to strive for control of the Republican organization.

There is at least one Democrat of prominence who is opposed to fusion with the Citizens, and that is W. S. Guffey, who was the chairman of the Democratic finance committee during the Larkin campaign. Mr. Guffey believes that the Democrats are strong enough to win in a three-cornered fight. He asserted that the Citizens party did not give more than 5,000 votes to Larkin. He said that there was little in the fusion movement to appeal to Republicans outside the cities. The Democrats had gained the confidence of the people, because the only two Pittsburgh office holders who insisted on the keeping of the pledges made when the Citizens party was put into power in Pittsburgh were Democrats. Mr. Guffey referred to Controller John B. Larkin and E. J. Frauenheim, who resigned the office of city treasurer because he was dissatisfied with the failure of the city administration to keep reform pledges.

A delegation composed of James W. Clark, director of public charities, and the councilmen of the Twentieth ward, called on Mayor Hays yesterday and asked him to appoint Alderman J. D. Walker a city magistrate, to succeed Thomas D. Stewart, who is suspended. Councilman C. W. Helmold said afterwards that Walker ought to have the appointment; that a magistracy was promised to him when the city administration came into power.

TO NOMINATE NEW DIRECTORS FOR "M. & M."

The directors of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association yesterday named the committee to nominate the seven new members of the board to fill the positions occupied by the members whose terms expire this year. The annual meeting will be held at 2 p. m., April 4. The members of the committee are: A. M. Scott, W. H. Miller, W. U. Follansbee, W. H. Hayes and H. M. Landis. The directors whose terms expire are: James Flood, W. L. Rodgers, F. R. Pearson, M. Oppenheimer, H. B. Lupton, Otto F. Felix and D. C. Shaw.

AUTOMOBILE MAKER SAYS CARNEGIE WAS WRONG

Pittsburgh Has a Horseless Vehicle Factory Which is Turning Out Machines Quite Steadily.

Exception is taken to the statement by Andrew Carnegie in his interview last week that Pittsburgh is without an automobile factory. Mr. Carnegie expressed his regret that he had to go elsewhere to secure the horseless vehicle, but if he had only known it theire is in existence in Pittsburgh a factory which has been for some time turning out various styles of machines.

The factory is located at 4117-19 Liberty avenue and gives employment to a large number of skilled workmen. The company is known as the Synnestvedt Machine Co., its president being Paul Synnestvedt, the patent lawyer, who is also the inventor of the various features peculiar to the machines made at this factory. The vehicles are electrically propelled and one of the distinctive features of the Pittsburgh factory is that the motors are made there. For most automobile companies the motors are made by the large electric companies. The Westinghouse interests have a large trade in this line.

"Mr. Carnegie was right in one statement," said Mr. Synnestvedt yesterday. "He said that Pittsburgh is the ideal place for the manufacture of automobiles. We considered it so and located our factory here for the reason he gives, the accessibility of the various materials that go into an automobile."

High School Committee Organized.

The High school committee of the central board of education organized last night for the coming year by re-electing Dr. W. H. McKelvey as chairman. There is but one change on the committee from that of last year, Frank B. Cameron, member from the Seventeenth ward, taking the place of Robert McMillan of the Homewood sub-district.

The Simplicity Davenport Bed.

The "Simplicity" is a combination Davenport—sofa and sofa bed.

As a sofa, a stately, luxurious creation in upholstered furniture. Piled high with cushions, its spacious depth, wide arms and comfortable springs are an almost irresistible invitation to rest. Nor could a more satisfactory corner for den or living room be devised than a Simplicity Davenport with cushions.

Upon necessity it is quickly and easily converted by a single movement into a bed almost as roomy and quite as comfortable as a four-poster. As quickly returned to the Davenport form again.

In general style the Simplicity Davenport is a heritage of colonial days, but vastly more comfortable than any examples of its distinguished ancestry.

If you are at all interested in a Davenport we ask you to investigate the merits of this. It is shown in several different styles, but all with the simplicity of construction which gives it its name. Fifth Floor, Furniture Department.

Persian Hearth Rugs for $11.50 Each, Worth Variously $18, $20, $22.

This is a sale of Oriental Rugs that we have set for today and tomorrow—having just received 200 direct from the Orient.

There are different sizes, ranging from 3 ft. 6 inches by 5 ft. to 4 ft. by 6 ft. 6 inches.

While it may not help you to a decision, yet we may as well say that choice is from rugs known as the Beloochistan, Daghistan, Cabistan and Shirvan districts.

There is no rug today of any manufacture whatsoever that can equal the Oriental rugs both in point of beauty and utility. As a matter of fact there is no wear out to a good Oriental rug.

We consider this lot of Persian rugs an exceptionally good collection, and there is no question but what they are the best value we have offered this season.

Here's a point: If you cannot call today or tomorrow, if you will telephone us or send a post card, it will be no trouble for us whatever to send a salesman to your home with samples of these rugs.

There never was a more opportune time to secure a handsome rug from the Far East than in this present sale, and it is quite unlikely that such an opportunity to secure such rugs for such a little price will occur again.

Friday, March 10, 1905.

The Hon. W. B. Bate, United States senator from Tennessee, who died yesterday, was one of the inconspicuous members of that body, although he had served there nearly 18 years. The fact that the Democrats have usually been in the minority may explain a part of the reason why he did not achieve more prominence during his long service, but he was a useful member. He had seen service in both the Mexican and civil wars, rising to the position of brigadier general in the latter conflict. Twice he was elected governor of his state, and he had taken a conspicuous part in politics before he went to Washington as senator. Few veterans of the Mexican remain, but many of the living ones saw service also in the civil war.

J. L. Bristow, fourth assistant postmaster general, who conducted the energetic investigation into the postal service, was recently transferred to another branch of public service, and now his conduct is to be investigated. It is said that he was too lenient in his report on the case of a clerk, whose offense was so serious that his immediate discharge was advised. While it is said that the president has authorized the investigation, it should be remembered that Bristow's enemies are many and very active. So great was the reputation he won for courage and honesty that he was suggested as a candidate for United States senator from Kansas. While faults may be found in his record, people will not hesitate to sympathize with him so long as actual proof of wrong-doing is lacking.

The Delaware senate is in favor of abolishing the pillory as a method of punishment, but some of the members found it difficult to declare how the exposure of a criminal differs in severity from the whipping-post, which will be retained. While the two are associated in that they were used a century or more ago, the moral effect of public exhibitions of a criminal is not to be compared with that from producing physical pain. The degraded criminal may have little fear of the shame that might attend his appearance in the stocks when he might dread the suffering caused by the lash. All convicted persons share in the notoriety following their trial, and to set them up as objects of opprobrium could scarcely add to their punishment, as it might have done when newspapers were a rarity.

The diplomatic experience of Andrew D. White renders important his advice concerning the reorganization of the entire service of our representatives abroad. In an address last evening he presented a plan by which the changes might be made to improve the service. Contrary to the opinion of many theorists, he did not advise that all ambassadors and ministers be promoted, but he thought half of them might well be, while the other half ought to be representative men, chosen much as they are now. The consuls, moreover, he thought might be selected according to the pleasure of the president, but he would have the secretaries of legations in a class, who would take up the work as a profession and have reason to expect promotion to different grades. The argument that our representatives ought to be better paid and that we should own our legations in foreign cities has often been presented.

Much evidence is appearing in European papers to the effect that in the assassination of Grand Duke Sergius the terrorists struck just such another blow at the cause of constitutional reform as when they murdered the reforming Czar Alexander. At the very time he was killed a charter giving Russia representative institutions was receiving his favorable consideration, and had he lived would have been promulgated. It now appears that the very day before the murder of Grand Duke Sergius the czar presided over a council summoned to consider the advisability of transforming the present council of ministers into a responsible cabinet. Sergius advocated the convocation of the zemski sobor upon the condition that each province should first elect two nobles, two representatives of the middle classes, two merchants and two peasants or artisans who should be initiated in the working of the administrative machinery at St. Petersburg, so that they should become acquainted with the system of government before taking part in the deliberations of the zemski sobor or national congress. The murder of the grand duke has had a reactionary influence and in effect has again postponed reform measures. History may be searched in vain for any instance of good done by assassination in furthering the interests of the people. The invariable teaching of history is that terrorists are the accomplices of despotism, creating conditions which justify it and perpetuate it.

The Associated Press has an important dispatch from St. Petersburg upon the military activity of Russia in the direction of the Indian frontier. Troops, guns and munitions of war are reported to have been moving southward for two months. Such activity is not incompatible with the operations in Manchuria, as the difficulty in that direction is not lack of men, but of means of transporting them. Russia is well able to spare troops for the southern movement as well as for sending reinforcements to Gen. Kuropatkin. The movement toward the Indian frontier probably means nothing more than an effort to impress Afghanistan and other native states, Russian prestige in central Asia having been shaken by the English expedition into Tibet and by rumors of the disasters sustained by Russian arms in the east. That is one consideration which exerts a powerful influence in favor of the termination of the war. The longer it lasts the more Russian influence will be weakened throughout the rest of the world.

The Treaty Reported.

By a strict party vote the Santo Domingo treaty has been reported from the committee on foreign relations, but as the amendments adopted are not known it cannot be told whether it is the treaty negotiated by the president or one fixed up by the committee.

The fact that party lines have been drawn creates some uncertainty as to whether it will be ratified or not, as a two-thirds majority is required under the constitutional provision adopted when it was supposed that there would be no such thing as party lines in the senate and that in the consideration of treaties the president would sit with the senate and receive its advice. Such a thing as the present mode of procedure was entirely foreign to the ideas of the framers of the Constitution.

The senate was incited to take a rather high and mighty position upon this matter by reports that an agreement had been negotiated by the administration under which it was going ahead in the management of the Santo Domingo business without consulting the senate. This report had a great deal to do with inciting the senate to make the unfortunate change in the arbitration treaties which practically annulled them. Up to that time there had been no objection to the word "agreement," and the change to "treaty" so as to make a special treaty necessary before any case could be sent to arbitration was a reflex of the feeling over the Santo Domingo affair. Secretary Hay has now explained that the preliminary agreement was negotiated by our representative in Santo Domingo without the knowledge of the state department and that the first information received of that instrument was the announcement in the newspapers. The president never had any intention of entering into any important arrangement without the advice and consent of the senate, although the preliminary agreement made by our representative was justified by the circumstances of the case, and forms the basis upon which the pending treaty was framed. Perhaps had the senate understood the situation as it really was the arbitration treaties might have been saved.

Laurier's Power Tottering.

There could not be a more sudden political revolution than that which now confronts Premier Laurier. Last November he was returned to power by victory so sweeping as to be comparable to that won by President Roosevelt. His great majority is already dissolving and his own resignation may be offered soon. The Liberal party has been rent by the educational issue, and unless some compromise can be reached that will restore the party unity a change of ministry appears to be inevitable.

The issue has been explained in our columns. The premier has endeavored to make a division of the school funds in the interest of the Roman Catholic church a condition of the organization of two territories as provinces of the Dominion—the Canadian equivalent of our statehood. The western section of the Liberal party is in open revolt on that question and it has the sympathy and support of other sections of the party. On the other hand, the province of Quebec, the base of the premier's political influence, is solidly in favor of the separate school clause and will not accept any compromise which surrenders the essential principle. So there appears to be no way at present of ending the cabinet crisis, and the outcome is uncertain, with a growing prospect that Premier Laurier will seek his personal relief by resigning.

His victory at the polls was won upon a program of internal improvement, the leading feature of which was the construction of a new transcontinental road. Once the educational question is settled the economic issues would come to the front again, and with their renewed ascendancy Premier Laurier would be apt to regain his leadership.

Roosevelt as a Canal Builder.

When credit is given to President Roosevelt for his success in clearing away the obstructions which had so long prevented the construction of the isthmian canal it should not be forgotten that it was his energetic way of doing things others considered too difficult that paved the way for the 1,000-ton barge canal to connect Lake Erie with the Hudson river. The Panama canal is of international importance, but the deepening of the New York water communications will affect freight rates on the trunk lines to New York city, besides greatly benefiting the nearby residents. It was when he was governor of the Empire state that President Roosevelt advocated the improvements which are about to be made according to modified plans based on the report of the commission he appointed for the purpose. Then the attempt to deepen the canal to nine feet had cost $9,000,000, and the result had not been satisfactory. It was characteristic of the executive who does things to urge the building of a canal of sufficient depth to accommodate 1,000-ton barges.

As in the case of the Panama canal the president has had to meet the hostility of the railroad interests, which do not always succeed in concealing their opposition to competition by water. Even now the measure is being contested on its constitutionality, although it was ratified by the voters at the last election. While the original canal way was opened 88 years ago, it quickly paid for itself, but with the arrival of the railroads portions of it fell into disuse. Whenever it was proposed to increase the depth, its enemies would declare that such slow transportation by water was out of date anyway, ignoring the fact that several European countries secure excellent service through them in spite of railroads. Some idea of the importance of the work may be gained by the fact that the deepening to 12 feet will cost $100,000,000, and when connections with streams have been completed the length of the waterway from Buffalo to Troy will be about 440 miles. Instead of bearing 240-ton boats it will carry boats of 900 tons, and the speed will also be increased.

The president is now engaged in the problems of constructing the Panama canal, but he gathered experience for this work from his struggle with the New York problem.

An Unparalleled Battle.

The battle which has been raging about Mukden for 10 days still continues, and frightful accounts are given of the frenzied desperation of the combatants. More men are engaged and the fighting has already lasted longer than in any other battle known to modern history. The Japanese are making every effort to cut off Gen. Kuropatkin's retreat, and that commander is confronted by such tremendous difficulties that his success in withdrawing his army will be a much greater exploit than he performed after his defeat at Liao-Yang. The issue cannot be long deferred, as the troops will succumb to exhaustion. The Japanese are reported to be going without food in their efforts to throw their columns across the Russian line of retreat, but there are limits even to Japanese endurance, and Marshal Oyama has fixed today as the extreme limit of the operations now going on. If Gen. Kuropatkin is not now brought to bay the Japanese pursuit will have to cease from sheer inability to maintain it.

The great length of the battle front puts the pursuers at a disadvantage, as to cut off the retreat a great circuit must be made. Both Nogi from the west and Kuroki from the east are making desperate efforts to intercept the Russian columns, but as the latter are moving along the interior lines and have a much shorter distance to go it is a possibility that they may escape. The presence of mere scouting parties or small detachments on their route would not amount to much, as such forces could be brushed aside. The chief peril of Gen. Kuropatkin arises from the advanced position obtained by Gen. Nogi before the retreat began, and this may prove fatal.

The Canal Commission.

The management of the present canal commission has been such as to provoke an investigation by the house of representatives, and the report of the committee which made the investigation sharply criticises the commission. The house passed a bill abolishing it, but some senators are interested in its continuance from personal and family reasons and no action was taken upon the bill. The commission seems to be lacking in energy and initiative, and the necessity of some change is so apparent that the president has decided to reorganize it completely, and it is now announced that the change will take place very soon.

The new commission will be a differently constituted body from the old. According to the Spooner act the commission must be composed of seven persons. The president intends to appoint two or three persons of wide experience in business organization and management, and the remainder will be first-class engineers, whose sole duty will be to make plans for the completion of the canal, while Chief Engineer Wallace will be given a free hand to execute the work.

The best way of dealing with the problem would have been to pass the house bill and give the president authority to use his discretion in organizing the enterprise. The commission of seven is too heavy and cumbrous a body, but President Roosevelt by controlling its procedure in the way now proposed may secure an effective organization upon that basis. At the next session of congress the senate may be more willing to consider the abolition of the commission when they find that the old board has been retired anyhow.

Taxing Coal.

Pennsylvania, like New York, is seeking to make people outside the state's limits pay taxes into its treasury. In Pennsylvania the scheme is not to tax stock transfers, but to tax every ton of coal mined. A bill has been introduced at Harrisburg providing a tax of 5 cents a ton on anthracite coal and 2 cents a ton on bituminous coal at the mines. Under such a law, every cook stove in Maryland that uses Pennsylvania coal will pay taxes into the Pennsylvania treasury. It is estimated that if the bill becomes operative it will produce annually $4,800,000.—Baltimore American.

True Americans.

Help for Santo Domingo.

Santo Domingo needs help to save it from ruin. We forbid it to get help elsewhere than from us. Therefore it turns to us for the help which our president proposes to give. Surely it would be strange if so reasonable a policy were not approved.—New York Tribune.

Talked of in Gotham

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, March 9.—Barring the strike—which continues to be the great news item in New York—the chief interest centers around Seth Bullock's cowboys, who have been arriving hourly, singly and in pairs, since early this morning. The first to arrive were "Devil Dan" Roberts and his brother Henry, and "Bill the Scribe," otherwise known as William H. Bonham, editor of the Pioneer Times of Deadwood, S. D., but the remainder of the party of 40 cowboys who have been staying in Washington since the inaugural ceremonies and who were due at the Union Square hotel last night, were somewhat belated. It was the first time that "The Scribe" had ever seen New York, and when he was landed at the foot of Cortlandt street in the "wee sma' hours" today the directions given him by a polite policeman as to how to get to the hotel were far from enlightening him. To use his own words, he was "sadly mixed," but finally concluded to board a Broadway car. The conductor had no idea where the great big man with the big black sombrero was going, so "Bill" rode to Harlem.

When he got there he asked the conductor to direct him to Union square and he was told he had gone about five miles past his destination. So weary was he that on the return trip he fell asleep and again passed Fourteenth street. His next awakening was at the postoffice, as far as he can recall, and then "Bill" decided to walk. "I walked about 40 blocks, I guess," he said, when he was seen today, "and if you should ask me how I finally got here I couldn't tell you."

Don't Think Much of New York.

This is the first time that any of the cowboys have seen New York city, and none of those who arrived today was favorably impressed. "Your streets aren't any more than alleys," said "The Scribe." "Why I expected Broadway to be a big, wide street, but there's hardly room for people to walk in it." Mr. Bonham's views of New York newspapers were also not very complimentary. He said he disliked the big heads on the front pages of the afternoon papers.

"Don't you use them on the Pioneer in Deadwood?" he was asked.

"No," was the reply; "folks out there see enough to scare them in real life without having it in the papers. Jokes are what we print mostly, and that's what the boys like."

The cowboys have sold all their horses and have shipped their saddles to their homes in the west. After spending a few days here under the guidance of H. J. Mahon, a mine owner, who has an office in the Flatiron building, they will separate. Some will go to Chicago and others to Boston, Buffalo, Niagara Falls and St. Louis. In the party are Edward Hanschka "the terrible Swede," George Hart, who achieved great fame in Washington because he lassoed two policemen, and "Jim" Fuller, who gave his horse to Theodore Roosevelt, Jr.

Laura Biggar Wins a Point.

Judge Foster today granted a rule to show cause why the executors of the estate of the late Henry M. Bennett should not be removed. The rule is returnable next Tuesday at Freehold, N. J. The petition asking for the removal of the executors was presented to Judge Foster on February 28 by Laura Biggar Bennett. She alleged that the executors, Peter J. McNulty and James W. Platt, had mismanaged the estate and she asked that they be removed. Judge Foster, in granting the rule today, said that the petition disclosed enough grounds which would warrant him in granting the order for the removal of the executors. The order was objected to by Edmund Wilson, counsel for the executors. Mr. Wilson was present in court, but said there was no objection to the granting of the rule. He will make his arguments on Thursday next, when the rule is returnable. Miss Biggar alleges that the estate was worth more than $1,000,000, but because of the acts of those who handled it, the value had decreased. She also alleges that a conspiracy was formed to deprive her of her share.

Want to Wear Blue Coats.

It would seem that a good many of the boys who years ago at the age of 6 wanted to grow up to be policemen still have that ambition, as nearly 1,800 applications have already been filed with the municipal civil service commission for the examination for patrolmen, the physical part of which will begin March 15. Between 70 and 80 will be examined each day. To be eligible to compete in the mental examination candidates must get at least 70 per cent in the medical and physical examination. If he does not get the required amount he is not notified to appear for the mental test, which will not begin until six weeks or so later. Before the actual physical examinations are begun four squads go through a different feat. This is to find out if the applicant is of the right height and weight, and also if the circumference of his chest is of the required measurement and expansion. The color of his hair and eyes is also recorded.

Mr. Phipps Arrives on Oceanic.

The White Star steamship Oceanic from Liverpool arrived today, bringing a full cargo of stories and a large passenger list. In the former was a tale of card sharps who had made the round trip on the boat, but got but little money if any. Another story was that of the rough weather which marked the voyage and the dense fog which was encountered as the vessel was nearing port. Three men who were alleged to be gamblers went over in the Oceanic when she last left port. It was said they cleaned up a small amount of money on the trip over, but did not attempt to get into the smoking room game on the return trip. Among the passengers who returned was Lawrence C. Phipps of Pittsburgh.

Anton Herbert Pint, 41 years old, a marble cutter, was committed to the psychopathic ward at the Bellevue hospital today by Magistrate Steinert to be examined as to his sanity. Before Pint, who spoke in German, told his story to the court, he produced a letter which he said he was about to send to President Roosevelt asking for the latter's good offices in aiding him to court a nurse on Blackwell's island.

Too Much Fussing About Health.

A famous physician, upon being asked recently what is the chief cause of ill health, replied: "Thinking and talking about it all the time. This ceaseless introspection in which so many of the rising generation of nervous folk indulge is certainly wearing them out. When they are not worrying as to whether they sleep too much or too little, they are fidgeting over the amount of food they take or the quantity of exercise necessary for health. In short, they never give themselves a moment's peace."—Housekeeper.

Their Best Assurance.

"Our interests, in harmony with our sentiments," give the small republics their best assurance of continued independence.—Chicago Record-Herald.

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

There are two trails in life, my boy:
One leads to height of fame,
To honor, glory, peace and joy,
And one to depths of shame;
And you can reach that glorious height—
Its honors can be won—
Or you can grope in shame's dark night—
It's up to you, my son.
—James Barton Adams.

That's right.

It's up to everybody in the land, whether he succeeds or fails in life.

Success in life does not mean wealth, nor is failure synonomous with poverty.

True success in life means decency in manners and conduct, and in being a useful member of society.

If you have the knack of gaining wealth you should not neglect opportunities for accumulating it, not selfishly, but for the public weal.

Every man owes it to society to improve it to the limit of his ability. This he may do by cultivating his own family, including himself, and by affording opportunities for others to succeed.

True charity does not consist in throwing pennies to the rabble, dimes to the hungry, or dollars to the poor.

Charity means love. When love prompts the giving the gift will do much good, for it will be given for the purpose of benefitting the receiver permanently, and it will, in compliance with a great law of life, return great and lasting benefits to the giver.

If parents would see to it that their children are properly educated there would be but little want or suffering in the world—but little in comparison with what there is.

Why don't parents do this?

That is not only a pertinent but a most grave and important question.

You would naturally think parents would seek to do the very best for their children, but you know they don't.

Some parents, many in fact, have a notion that education consists in going to school a certain number of hours for a certain number of days for so many years.

This isn't education at all, only an aid to it, for book knowledge only helps to bring out, educate, or lead from the pupil that which is within.

It is well known to all that a certain course of schooling does not have the same effect on each and every one who take it. Even special courses do not, for it is said that fully one-third of those who take a course in medicine turn their attention to something else. This ratio will probably hold good in all other special courses.

Possibly your own personal experience proves to you that the study of music will not make a musician. The music must be in the individual, then study and practice will bring it out.

And so with other professions, not excepting teaching and preaching.

Parents will naturally resent the charge of neglecting the education of their children, particularly if they keep them going to school steadily for a number of years.

The fact remains, however, and the world will have to suffer a good while longer, at least until our schoolmen learn that education consists in something else than schooling.

Although a man may possess a dozen diplomas, and is decorated from head to foot with medals, and yet is ill-mannered and selfish, he is not well educated.

The principal trouble with parents is that many of them are but poorly or even badly educated, therefore do not know how to educate their children. They may do the best they know how, and yet fail far short of fitting them to become good and useful citizens.

The educated man is not only tolerably well supplied with essential knowledge pertaining to his business, and concerning affairs of the times, but knows good from evil, justice from injustice, generosity from selfishness, but his tastes, disposition and manners have been carefully developed along right and rational lines.

Men and women thus educated will find but little cause for complaining and repining during their lives, and can die rejoicing in the hope of still better lives in a better world.

Dear Quiet Observer:—There certainly is much "talk" in the world today, the same as in days gone by and it is only occasionally that some one says something real cute as did Dr. Osler. What does it all amount to, anyway?

From the altruistic standpoint, it is possibly well for the geniuses to succumb to their own emotion and expend themselves as rapidly as possibly, else they might discover that the world is a poor paymaster and considers not the value of a man's work in fixing the rate of compensation—often forgetting to pay until long after his death, when a monument is erected for the inspiration of the embryo genius.

But how about the poor fellow who is just sane and can never do anything except make a fair living for himself and happy family? Should he be put on the shelf at 30?

All success is relative, and it is comparatively a rare thing for a man to make a new record in his line of work. Yet the right to live and enjoy existence is by common consent the inalienable right of every man and woman so long as the rights of others are not invaded.

The habit of the age seems to be to judge men wholly by what they have done and how much they have accumulated. Ought not the true test to be "What manner of man is he?" "To be or not to be—that is the question." The thoroughly good man or woman is a joy to himself or herself, and to all who know them, but the very fact that they are good prevents them from becoming widely known.

Except in the lines of original investigation and discovery in the sciences and arts and the putting into permanent form of thought—composition and invention—what does success amount to? Of course, from the selfish standpoint, even the meanest success is worth while to the individual who attains to it, but so far as the general fund of permanent achievement is concerned, probably all except one out of a million might just as well have never lived.

Who among the many readers of the Quiet Observer column ever heard of Dr. Osler? Fame and position and wealth are seldom acquired in sufficient measure to adequately compensate the individual for turning his life energy into achievement. And yet without such incentive for effort many respected men would become tramps and vagabonds.

Is the world really a better place in which to live today than it was a century ago?

We just about get educated to the idea that we cannot live without our bath tub and along comes a physician who asserts that bathing is unhealthful. We begin to pride ourselves on our fine houses and comfortable homes when they seem to prove that real health is to be enjoyed only when we live in tents the year round. Just when we begin to despair of being able to eat our dinners unless they be prepared by a $10,000 a year chef, we are compelled, reluctantly, to conclude that uncooked, natural (whatever that may mean) food alone can be assimilated without undue wear and tear on the digestive tract.

So I ask, What does it all amount to, anyway? Is anything worth while except to be as nearly perfect men and women as our training life in a rational way, without perverting minds, doing good as we go along, and enjoying life in a rational way, without perverting the good things to vicious uses—above all to be temperate in everything, self-controlled in all things—thankful to the Creator that He made us sane beings rather than geniuses?

SERENUS.

IT IS TO SMILE.

"No, I can't marry you," decided Miss Fleyme. "You appear to have no object, aim or ambition in life."

"How can you say that," expostulated Woodby Tooke, "when my sole aim, object and ambition at present is to make you my wife? Surely you can't expect me to have another until this one is accomplished?"

It didn't take much of that kind of talk to do the business.—Cleveland Leader.

"Well," remarked Hercules cheerfully, as he gazed up at Atlas, "you seem to be bearing up pretty well, even if the whole world is down on you."—Princeton Tiger.

Julia—Why are you going on with your trousseau after your engagement is broken?

Katherine—Oh, because the name of my next eligible begins with the same letter, and it really doesn't make any difference!—Detroit Free Press.

Two things there are that women

Story of Shimose

The Terrible Japanese Explosive.

T. P.'s Weekly: Fifty years ago, in the days when France and England were preparing to attack Russia in the Crimea, when Capt. Arthur had not yet surveyed and given his name to the famous port in the Liao-Tung peninsula; when Vladivostock was a fishing village, with a now forgotten name, and Petropavlovsk, far north in Kamchatka, was the only Russian port in the far east, the feudal armies of Japan paraded in quaint scale armor, huge helmets and hideous masks, and carried pikes, two-handed swords, and a few matchlocks. Within the half century since then Japan has adopted the methods and the arms of the west.

Some Japanese Inventions.

Japan would never have prepared for the present struggle with Russia if her own industrial and engineering resources had not enabled her to provide a great part of her armaments in her own arsenals and factories. For her navy she has built a number of smaller craft, and amongst them some of her best torpedo boats and destroyers. But her army is almost entirely equipped by her own workers, and in every department of sea and land warfare the Japanese inventor has been busy. Among the more notable inventions may be mentioned the Murata rifle, the work of Col. Murata of the engineers; the Arisaka gun, invented by Col. (now general) Arisaka; the Ijuin fuse for shells, the invention of Vice Admiral Ijuin, vice chief of the naval general staff; the Oda mine, invented by Commander Oda, I. J. N., and the Shimose powder, a high explosive, invented by Prof. Shimose, one of the most distinguished scientific men of Japan.

Prof. Shimose.

The Japanese shells, torpedoes, and mines all owe much of their exceedingly high explosive power to the substance used in charging them, the now famous Shimose powder. Before the war the name of its inventor, Prof. Shimose, was quite unknown outside Japan, and very little known in Japan itself. His experiments were never published, for it was intended to keep secret as long as possible the fact that the Japanese army and navy possessed this new material. Shimose was born in 1858, and took his final degrees in science at the somewhat late age of 26 in 1884. He had taken chemistry as his special subject of study, and did much of his work under Prof. Divers, a Scotsman, who then occupied the chair of chemistry at the Tokyo university. After obtaining his degree he worked for some months in the university laboratories at Tokyo, and it was then his attention was first turned to the question of improvements in high explosives. He then entered the government service, and after acting for two years as chemist to the imperial printing office he was transferred to the navy department. He introduced several improvements into the process of powder making in the government mills, and during the researches connected with this work he obtained, it is said by a mere accident in the first instance, the clue to the new powder of which he had long been thinking. The perfecting of his discovery cost him 10 years of experimental work, some of it of a very dangerous character. Twice he was badly wounded by explosions in his workshop, and one of his hands is to this day partly crippled as the result of one of these accidents. On another occasion during a trial of the powder a heavy gun burst on the range and sent several of its fragments within a few feet of Shimose, who was watching the firing.

The Variag at Chemulpo.

In 1893 the invention had advanced so far that the admiralty promoted the inventor and awarded him a special grant of money. When the Chinese war broke out next year, Japan had no plant for making the new powder on a large scale, and had in store only small quantities for experimental purposes. So the occasion for using it in actual war passed by. In any case the inventor was not yet satisfied that the new explosive was all he could make it. In 1897, however, he had completed his researches, and plant for the regular manufacture of the powder on a large scale was laid down in the arsenals. After it had blown at least one big gun to fragments in the earlier experimental stage, Shimose had given up the idea of using the new powder for the charge in the big gun, and confined his efforts to making it safe and effective for the charges of shells, mines and torpedoes, and for engineering work. The fight with the Variag at Chemulpo revealed at once the existence of the new explosive and its terrific power. The narratives of the Russian officers tell how a bursting shell blew part of the end of the ship's bridge into small pieces, while the bodies of the two men who were near the point of explosion were scattered in unrecognizable fragments. The doctors who treated the wounded were surprised at finding that they had been injured not by large shell splinters, as would be the case with ordinary shell fire from naval guns, but that they had to extract from the bodies of their patients numbers of small shell fragments, each sufficient to inflict a serious wound. The Shimose powder seems not merely to tear the shell open, but shivers the shell into hundreds of small pieces, each capable of killing or wounding a man.

Second Only to Nitro-Glycerin.

It is claimed for the new explosive that it is perfectly safe to handle. It can be kept at varying temperatures without change of character. It can be hammered, and bullets can be fired into it without exploding it, and if it is deliberately set on fire it burns without much flame and can be easily extinguished with one bucket of water. In experiments against armor plating with the Shimose charge and the Ijuin fuse the shells appear to burst while penetrating the plate, shattering it, and projecting a shower of fragments inward. The inventor claims that in destructive power it is second only to nitro-glycerin and superior to guncotton and dynamite, but safer and more reliable than all three. The extent of the damage done by the Japanese torpedoes and mines to the Russian ships points also to the effectiveness of the new powder for such work. The Japanese speak of the Tokyo chemist as one of the men who has given their country victory. They rank the scientific worker in the laboratory with the admirals and generals who have led their fleets and armies in the actual fighting.

Grim Tartary's Awakening.

The ferment in Russia has had a curious sequel in a racial ferment among the Tartars of the Crimea for the restoration of their ancient kingdom. A pretender has even appeared, styling himself Sahat-Girea Khan, and claiming to be a descendant of Schahin Garee Khan, the last of the independent Khans, who submitted to Russia in 1783. The pretender, who appears among the Tartar villagers, with an armed bodyguard, has even issued a manifesto claiming the restoration of the Khanate. Troops have been sent from Sevastopol to Bachchisarai, the ancient capital, and the mosque where the Khans of old were inaugurated is under military guard.—London Globe.

JIU-JITSU.

If you are weak, and rather small,
With hardly any strength at all,
It need not fret you.
You need not use a lyddite gun
To put bold robbers on the run—
But take some lessons just for fun,
In Jiu-Jitsu!
You'd take the crook across your knee,
Then toss him up into a tree—
Do anything at all, you see,
If you a master chanced to be,
In Jiu-Jitsu!

Sweet maiden with the golden hair,
If impious ruffian ever dare
To try to kiss you:
You would not need to scratch and bite,
Or scream for some brave handsome knight,
If you but knew your lessons right,
In Jiu-Jitsu!
With one small hand his neck you'd seize,
You'd tie his arms up with his knees,
And take him anywhere you please—
If you could operate with ease,
Your Jiu-Jitsu!

If wrapt in gray and somber gown,
Your Nemesis should track you down,
He could not faze you.
You would not turn a sickly hue,
Or sadly think your "checks" were due—
If you the Japs' fine art but knew,
Of Jiu-Jitsu!
Fate very soon would find, in you,
He'd bit off more than he could chew,
Especially when you were through—
Since you had learned a thing or two
From Jiu-Jitsu!

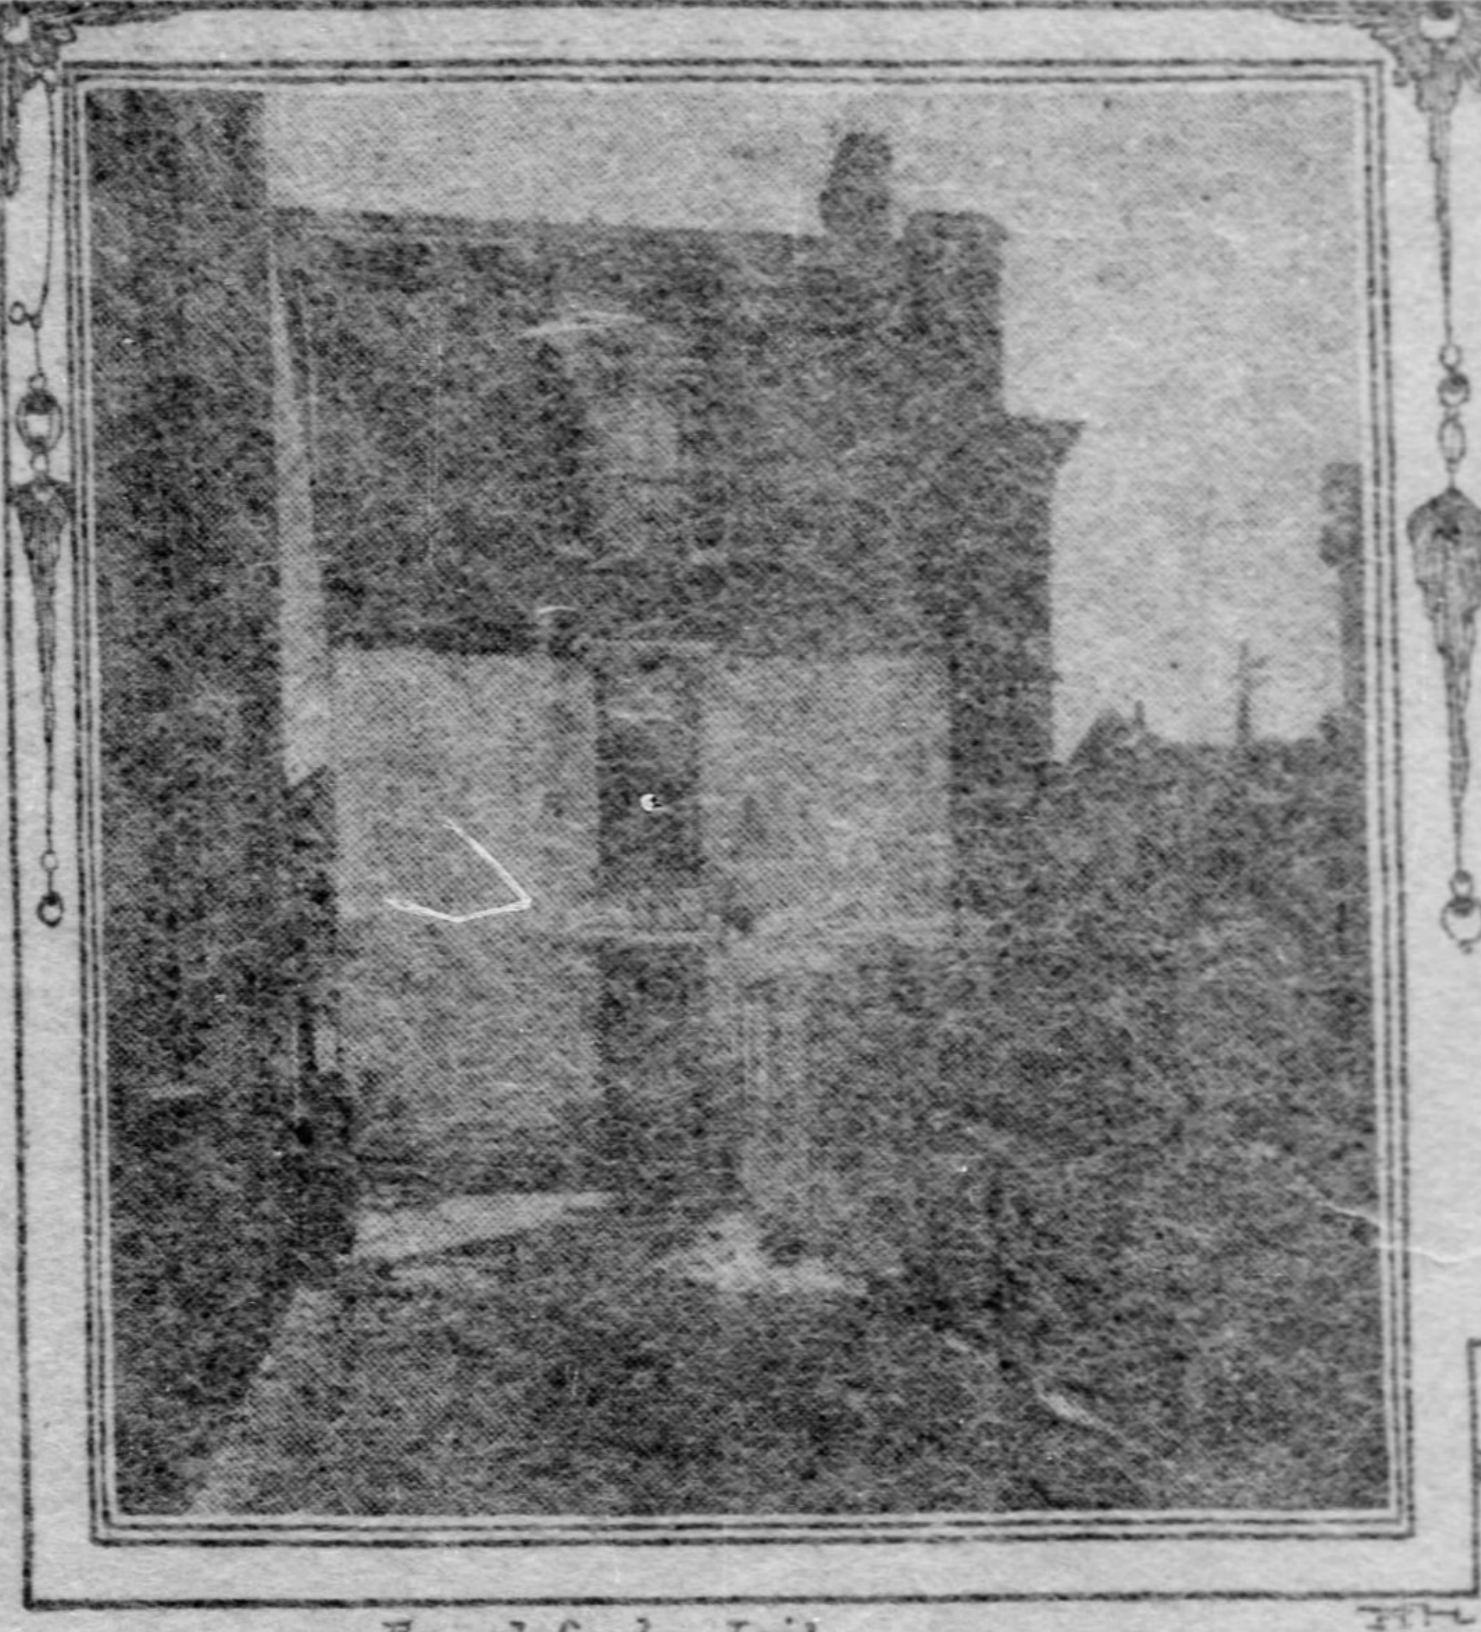
Pittsburgh, March 6.

POWERS PRISONER FIVE YEARS TODAY

All That Time Persecuted Man Bravely Studied and Cared for His Health.

TELLS OF HIS LIFE IN JAIL

WHERE CALEB POWERS HAS SPENT HIS PRISON LIFE



Frankfort Jail

Caleb Powers in Jail at Louisville

Georgetown Jail

Caleb Powers today completes five years in jail. On March 10, 1900, he was arrested at Lexington, Ky., and on March 10, 1905, he is in jail at Louisville, awaiting his fourth trial on the charge of complicity in the murder of William Goebel.

Three times he has been tried. Twice he has been sentenced to life imprisonment and once to death. Three times the court of appeals, the highest judicial tribunal of the state, has reversed the finding of the lower court and sent the case back to drag its weary length along the slow ways of the law.

When will the end come? When will the case be decided one way or the other? Will the hope, which of necessity must be eternal in the breast of Caleb Powers, continue to sustain him through the days, the months, and the years to come, as it has for five years past? For there will have to be another trial at least. Five years gone from his life; used by the commonwealth of Kentucky in an effort to determine whether he is innocent or guilty.

Years Cannot Be Returned.

Such is the somber reflection of Powers as he sits in the Jefferson county jail today and keeps his doleful anniversary. And no matter how strong may be his hope of final vindication, there remains the bitter thought that no court, not the court of appeals of Kentucky nor the supreme court of the United States, nor any court on earth, can give him back those five years of his young manhood, from 31 to 36, that are gone forever.

But Powers is not despondent. These five years in Kentucky jails have not served to break him either in body or spirit. The former he has sustained by regular exercise, the latter by never brooding and by always keeping his mind occupied in systematic pursuits, mainly in writing the history of his life, his struggles and trials.

During the five years Powers has rested under the charge of being implicated in the murder of Goebel, two of the leading attorneys in the case have died: Tom Campbell, the soul of the prosecution, and former Gov. John Young Brown of the defense, who was the candidate of the independent Democrats for governor against Goebel, also W. C. P. Breckinridge, the famous silver-tongued orator, who was an able champion of Powers. Here is the life of Caleb Powers for the past five years:

1900.

March 10—Arrested and placed in jail at Lexington.

March 11—Carried in a two-horse conveyance across country to Versailles and thence to Louisville, where he was placed in the Jefferson county jail.

March 27—Handcuffed and taken to Frankfort, where he was placed in jail.

April—Examining trial before Judge Dan Moore at Frankfort. Held without bail. Granted a change of venue to Scott county and taken to Georgetown jail.

July 9—First trial began.

August 19—Given a life sentence and transferred to Louisville jail for safe keeping.

November 12—Henry E. Youtsey, now serving a life sentence for complicity, and Jim Howard, alleged assassin, whose case is now before the United States supreme court, transferred to the Louisville jail, where Howard and Powers met for the first time.

1901.

February 6—Powers transferred from Louisville jail to Frankfort jail.

March 28—Court of appeals reversed finding of Scott circuit court. New trial ordered.

October 8—Transferred from Frankfort jail to Georgetown.

October 8—Second trial began.

November 8—Given life sentence and transferred back to Frankfort jail.

1902.

Remained in Frankfort jail all year until September, when he was again transferred back to Georgetown.

December 3—Court of appeals reversed decision in second trial.

1903.

Remained in jail at Georgetown until August 3, when the third trial began.

August 24—Penalty of death fixed by the jury.

November 25 was set as date of execution. Appeal taken, which stayed execution.

October 13—Transferred to Louisville jail and placed in No. 7, where he has since remained.

1904.

Year passed in jail at Louisville.

December 6—Court of appeals reversed the case for the third time, Settle and Barker, Democratic judges, voting with Burnam and O'Rear.

1905.

In jail at Louisville awaiting fourth trial.

Gazette Powers Fund Now Exceeds $1,100

Contributions to The Gazette fund for the defense of Caleb Powers to date aggregate $1,105. The subscriptions yesterday were augmented $1 by the offer of a modest donor from Pullman, O., who declares that he believes the Kentucky prisoner innocent. The response to the appeal of the friends of Powers has been characterized by the usual liberality of the people of Pittsburgh. All contributions sent to The Gazette will be promptly acknowledged in these columns.

The thought of spending five years in jail buoyed up only by hope mingled with dark uncertainty, is appalling. It brings the idea of leaden hours, of days that are as years, of years that are eternities, but Powers has never for a moment permitted time to lie heavily upon him. On the contrary he says it has passed quickly. What a lesson for those who, with every advantage and pleasure, find themselves suffering with ennui, is afforded by this young man who, after all these years in prison, says: "I have never found time even in jail that passed slowly for me. On the contrary, it often passes so quicky that I cannot accomplish all I have set out to do. Every moment of the day is occupied. I have no idle periods."

When Powers was asked in Louisville to relate briefly how he passed the five years in jail, he said:

"From the time I reached Louisville, in August, 1900, until February 6, 1901, when I was again transferred to the jail in Georgetown, I divided the day into periods of work, sleep, exercise and rest. I arose each morning at 6 o'clock, had breakfast from 6:30 to 7, read the morning papers until 7:15, walked from 7:15 to 8:15. Shaved, rested and arranged my toilet until 9. Read law, literature and took occasionally a few notes on my autobiography until 12. Walked, pitched a ball, and used exercisers until 1 p. m. Rested until 1:30. Answered correspondence until 3. Dinner from 3 to 3:30. Read papers until 4:15. Walked and exercised until 5:15. Rested until 5:45.

To Relieve Dyspeptic Stomach.

"Walked and pumped the gas off my dyspeptic stomach until 6 p. m. Studied from 6 to 8 p. m. Exercised with dumbbells, Indian clubs and weight machines until 9 p. m., when we had to go to bed. This routine I adhered to constantly save that I was often interrupted by visitors, callers, curiosity seekers, sympathizers, etc., all shades, classes and types of humanity. I have read thousands of letters from people I have never heard of and never seen. All of these I have answered when an answer was deserved. Nearly all the letters were sympathetic, but some were the reverse. Some wrote me that I had my just deserts, others that I ought to be hanged. These were anonymous.

"During the year 1901 I arose at 7 a. m., bathed until 7:30, had breakfast from 7:30 to 8, exercised from 8 to 10, worked from 10 to 1, exercised from 1 to 2, worked from 2 to 4 and had supper at 4. I have eaten but two meals a day since I have been in jail and have been constantly troubled with my stomach, as I have chronic gastric catarrh. My fight has been to keep up my health. The air in all my quarters has been vitiated and in most of them it has been foul. I have had to live with a host of prisoners, black and white. At Frankfort and Georgetown, I was lodged with negroes. They played on musical instruments, shot dice, played cards, told jokes; and my work was done in the midst of noise and confusion."

Frankfort Jail the Worst.

Powers' most trying experience was in the Frankfort jail, which looks more like a stable than a place for human beings. Here he spent more than a year. His cell in which he was confined for 13 of the 24 hours, was in a steel cage, 16x24 feet, which was located in the center of the jail. All around it ran a passageway. The only air came from narrow apertures in the outer wall. With 20 prisoners, black and white, locked in this cage for 13 hours and with the water, drainage and waste of all kinds in the same place, the conditions were fearful.

Powers' life for these five years has been passed in the Louisville, Frankfort and Georgetown jails. He has never been allowed to give bail, although he could furnish any amount. In one respect Powers has been fortunate. His jailers have always been humane and considerate.

After five years' imprisonment, Powers finds himself now in exactly the same position he was on the day of his arrest. At that time the Franklin county grand jury had returned an indictment against him charging him with being accessory to the murder of William Goebel. He has not been convicted; he has not been acquitted. He has been tried three times. That is all.

JAPAN ORDERS MUCH MACHINERY MADE HERE

Westinghouse Interests Capture Turbine, Generator, Lamp and Other Business.

That the Japanese have not neglected industrial development while waging war is evident from the unabated activity that has continued in the demand for Pittsburgh built electrical equipment, etc. The Westinghouse interests through their Japanese representatives, Takata & Co. of Tokyo, Yokohama and New York, have secured important contracts for steam turbines for lighting plants, for several thousand lamps and for equipment to be installed in one of the largest mining properties in the Flowery kingdom.

The steam turbines are to be shipped to the Tokyo Electric Light Company. The contract is the biggest ever awarded for machinery of its description to be installed in the far east. There will be three outfits of 1,500 horse power capacity each, making in all 4,500 horse power. The turbines are to operate under a steam pressure of 145 pounds with a 26-inch vacuum, without superheat.

The generators of 1,000 kilowatts capacity each, are to be wound for three-phase 50 cycles, 3,600 volts, and will operate at 1,500 revolutions a minute.

The Osaka Electric Light Company, which lights the most important commercial city in Japan, has requisitioned for 100,000 incandescent lamps, which will be manufactured by the Sawyer-Mann Electric Company, branch of the Westinghouse interests.

A large consignment of electrical apparatus for the mining of copper is about to be exported from the Westinghouse plants to the Furukawa Western bureau, Japan.

This shipment will consist of two 200-kilowatt 500-575 volt direct current, horizontally split, engine type generators.

A big marble switchboard is to be utilized for controlling a third Westinghouse generator which has been ordered in addition to the other two. It will contain three generator panels and two feeder panels, complete with standard arrangement of instruments. Several single acting mining pumping equipments will be operated by Westinghouse motors, ranging in capacity up to 140 horse power.

A representative of Takata & Co. stated that the Westinghouse equipments will be the most up-to-date of their description ever shipped to Japan and that further contracts for Pittsburgh electrical machinery are expected to be closed within the next few weeks.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BEAVER, March 9.—Another surprise came today in the Lance case when, after the grand jury had returned a true bill against William McKendry, the guard who shot Arthur S. Harris, the alleged robber, indicting him for involuntary manslaughter, District Attorney J. B. McClure asked Judge Wilson to hold the case over until the June term of criminal court, because of new developments which led him to think other indictments would be brought against McKendry. Argument was deferred until the adjournment of court at noon. When the time came District Attorney McClure was not present, and court adjourned until tomorrow, without anything being done, although Judge Wilson is said to be in favor of continuing the case.

This morning Judge Wilson stated that he thought the case was in such shape as to allow McKendry being admitted to bail, but District Attorney McClure objected. Attorneys John M. Buchanan, A. P. Marshall and Joseph M. Holmes, representing McKendry, insisted on the bail being fixed at once, if the case is continued to June.

Attorney John M. Buchanan gave out the following interview: "We will fight to the last the attempt to have the case continued. McKendry is innocent of any connection with the robberies and should not have been indicted. When the trial comes we will bring out facts that will startle the neighbors of the Lances and the public generally. We will show the double life Harris lived and will show that several persons took trips to the St. Louis fair on money stolen from the Lances."

PIG IRON PRODUCTION IS BEATING RECORDS

NEW YORK, March 9.—(Special.)—The February production of anthracite and coke pig iron of 1,597,000 tons compares with 1,250,449 tons in February, 1904, and with 1,230,615 tons in February, 1903. This is an increase over last February of 391,551 tons. For the months of January and February this year production increased 1,246,820 tons as compared with the first two months of 1904.

FIERCE FREE-FOR-ALL IN ALDERMAN'S OFFICE

Constable's Face Was Contused and Number of Prisoners Made Their Escape.

As a result of a free-for-all fight in the office of Alderman B. C. Barton, Seventh ward, yesterday morning, the riot call was sounded, but before the patrol wagon reached the place all of the fighters had vanished and so had a number of prisoners who were being tried on various charges. Constable James E. Glenn is under arrest charged with aiding prisoners to escape, disorderly conduct and resisting an officer. He furnished bail for a hearing.

While Glenn is the regular constable in the Seventh ward, he gets little work to do owing to bad feeling between him and the alderman. The latter gives all of his work to Deputy Constable Peter Auslander. Glenn was a bitter opponent to Barton for re-election, and aided in defeating him. Mary Smith's house in Poplar alley was raided on Tuesday night by Auslander on charges of selling liquor without a license, on Sunday and keeping a disorderly house. Nine other women and seven men, all colored, were captured. The hearing in the case of the Smith woman had just been concluded yesterday morning. She had been held in $1,500 bail on the three charges when Glenn walked in. Barton says Glenn told the prisoners to leave the office. Glenn says he only said the prisoners were not getting justice, and that if he was in their places he would leave. Regardless, however, of what he did say, it was evidently enough.

Two or three men landed close to Glenn as he was starting out the door. The constable fought back. When the fray was all over Glenn had several abrasions on his face. So had some of the others. A handy-billy had played a part in the fracas. The riot call scattered the crowd. It was all off for the present, but may be resumed. A few of the escaped prisoners were recaptured and officers are looking for those still at liberty.

THROUGH RUSSIA WITH AN INTELLIGENT GUIDE

Burton Holmes Took a Large Body of Travelers Through the Czar's Wonderful Empire.

The seating capacity of the Pittsburgh Carnegie Music hall was tested to the limit last night by the large party of travelers who turned out to take a trip through "The Russian Empire" with Burton Holmes, the "Travelogue" man. It was an intensely interesting journey from beginning to end.

Starting at Warsaw, the Polish metropolis, the party was taken up the Baltic sea, past Cronstadt, the Gibralter of that body of water, to St. Petersburg and thence to Moscow, the "Holy City." In both of these last named cities the travelers remained long enough to study the people and their customs, and to view the principal sights, including a wonderful religious procession in Moscow.

From Moscow the Trans-Siberian express was taken for a 90-day trip to Irkutsk, and from there another long trip was made to Vladivostok, where the travelers were introduced to the great problem of the day—Russian destiny and Japanese determination.

Next Thursday night Mr. Holmes' series of travelogues for this season in Pittsburgh will come to a close with a trip through that other wonderful country that is attracting so much attention—Japan.

Weber Pianos Exclusively Used at the Metropolitan Opera House

With the opening of the opera season came the announcement that the Weber Piano has again been selected by the Conried Metropolitan Opera Company for use at the Metropolitan Opera House and en tour.

The fact that the Weber should have been chosen in preference to all other pianos by the foremost organization of its kind in this country, if not in the world, speaks eloquently of the high esteem in which this standard instrument is held by the greatest artists now before the public.

Mr. Conried himself writes:

"I know of no piano that would give us better satisfaction, and it is my desire that the Weber Piano shall continue to be used at the Metropolitan Opera House."

The same qualities which commend the Weber to eminent musicians cause it to be the piano selected for refined homes in which the standard of all appointments is of the highest.

THREE LOST IN RISE OF RIVERS

Capt. Wm. O. Rhodes and Two Others Believed to Have Fallen Overboard.

WATERS BEGIN TO RECEDE

Three lives are believed to have been lost in Pittsburgh and vicinity as the result of the rise in the rivers. The victims are as follows:

CAPT. WILLIAM O. RHODES of the steamer John F. Klein.

HENRY KNITCAMP, aged junk dealer, of McKeesport.

JOHN RILEY, roustabout on towboat Jim Brown.

Capt. Rhodes, who was one of the best known of river captains and pilots, disappeared from the steamer John F. Klein last Monday evening. The Klein was lying at the foot of South Nineteenth street in the Monongahela river, alongside a fleet of barges. Capt. Rhodes went ashore about 7 o'clock to send a telephone message. He did not return to the boat, and it is believed he fell from the boat, was swept under the barges and drowned. The American Association of Masters and Pilots, of which he was a member, is preparing to send out notices to points below to look for the body.

Henry Knitcamp of McKeesport is thought to have been drowned yesterday morning in the Monongahela river when his shanty boat was swept away by an ice gorge. Knitcamp was asleep in his boat during the night and was not seen after the boat was carried off.

John Riley Has Disappeared.

The absence of John Riley, a roustabout on the towboat Jim Brown, has caused the belief that he fell from the boat and was drowned when the boat stopped at McKeesport last Saturday to take on her pilot, Capt. A. L. Forsythe. Capt. Forsythe conversed with Riley when he boarded the boat, but no one seems to have seen Riley afterward. He was 60 years old.

The crest of the rise reached this city yesterday afternoon about 1 o'clock. The Monongahela river, according to the marks on the Water street wharf, reached a depth of 18 feet and 11 inches. Immediately after that it began to fall rapidly. The most of the rise which came during the night was gorge water, and the river came up rapidly as the ice began to go out by this point, and fell as rapidly when it had about ceased running.

When the ice began moving out of the Allegheny Wednesday it gorged slightly at the new dam at Springdale and caused heavy backwater at Tarentum. The several industrial establishments at that place were compelled to suspend operations. The gorge moved out soon, however, and the river fell again as fast as it had risen. No damage was occasioned either by the Allegheny or the Youghiogheny ice, both of which were rotten.

Ohio River Full of Ice.

Reports from Portsmouth and Racine are to the effect that the Ohio river is so full of ice that towboats are unable to make headway against it, and everything has been compelled to seek shelter. This is all shore ice left by the last breakup. It is thought it will be all out tomorrow.

The Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company will send out a lot of coal today, following the ice down. The boats to go out are the Harry Brown, Capt. Floyd Burress; Alice Brown, Capt. Kohn Keim; Tom Dodsworth, Capt. George Howder; Exporter, Capt. W. F. Oakes; Pacific, Capt. A. S. Eckler, and Boaz, Capt. F. A. Gould.

The Jutte company will send out the Oakland with 20 boats and three barges. She will be followed by the Charley Jutte and the W. C. Jutte, with 10 boats and four barges each. These two will meet the Gleaner at Bellaire and turn their tows over to her. The Gleaner came off the Queen City ways at Cincinnati last Saturday and is now on her way up the river with a big tow of empties. The two Jutte boats will bring these up. The Crescent, also owned by the Juttes, is on her way up with empties, and a big tow is ready for her when she arrives.

Much Coal to Go Out.

All the coal companies will get their tows out today. The ice will have all passed that is coming on this rise, and coal will be rushed out before the coalboat water is gone.

Capt. Dan McIntyre has gone to Louisville to bring up the Henry Lourey, recently purchased by the River Coal company from the St. Louis Transportation Company. The Lourey is a big boat, about the size of the Joseph B. Williams, and this is the first time she has ever made a trip to Pittsburgh. She has been wintering at the foot of the canal at Louisville.

The fleet of the Clyde Coal Company, the Clyde, Eleanor and J. B. Leonard, with 40 pieces, had a busy time of it at Glenwood yesterday morning during the first rush of the ice. From 4 to 6 o'clock the boats were kept busy taking care of their tows, but pulled through without any loss.

The Admiral Dewey will leave on her regular trip to Morgantown Monday. This is the first packet out of Pittsburgh for several months.

THE THREE RIVERS

The stage of water at Davis island dam at 9 o'clock last night was 17.1 feet, and the river was falling slowly.

Former Judge Josiah Cohen yesterday filed an application in common pleas court No. 2 asking for amendments to the charter of the Allegheny General hospital so as to permit of an increase in the number of directors and the operating of a training school for nurses. The application was granted.

At the hospital last night it was stated it was the purpose to increase the number of directors from 11 to 20. No names were mentioned as likely to be included in the new directorate. The addition of a training school for nurses has long been contemplated.

GET UP NEGRO HUNT FOR VISITORS' EDIFICATION

Alabama Citizens Will Release Two Convicts and Let Baseball Men Join in Bloodhound Chase.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

MONTGOMERY, ALA., March 9.—Two desperate convicts serving life sentences will be turned loose here in a few days to be hunted down with dogs, as a demonstration to the visiting New York American league baseball team of how criminals are captured in this state. Manager Griffith and the full team will join in the cross-country man hunt.

The negroes will be given a fair start before bloodhounds are placed on their trail and before the orders are given for the human pursuers to start. Arrangements have been made to have certain points guarded by deputies so the men cannot escape.

The dogs to be used are from "convict farms" near Birmingham, and are trained to follow the scent of man. Three packs will be used, of varying ages. The youngest dogs will be turned loose first.

Many of those who have signified their intention of entering the man-chase are members of Montgomery's best clubs. The chase will be over a rough country, with plenty of chances for the convicts to take to the trees should the dogs get too close. As the animals are trained merely to surround escaped prisoners and not to tear them to pieces, there is little danger to the hunted.

Homestead Has Real Water.

For the first time Homestead yesterday obtained the benefit of its natural filtration wells which were put down last summer. Thirteen of the 12-inch wells were placed in use and supplied the entire town with clear, pure water.

GOVERNOR'S VETO IS MADE PLAIN

Mr. Pennypacker Does Not Disapprove Legislative Measures Without Reason.

SHORT SESSION OF THE HOUSE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
HARRISBURG, PA., March 9.

Today's session of the house was characterized by a small attendance, in which there was a spirit of unrest, stimulated by a gubernatorial veto. Gov. Pennypacker vetoed a measure purporting to regulate certain features of the drug trade, which was introduced by Representative Esler of Allegheny county. In his disapproval of the measure, Gov. Pennypacker was governed by the text of the bill and not influenced in any particular by those who have viewed it with suspicion since its introduction. His reasons, he sets forth as follows:

> Article three, section three of the Constitution provides that the subject of every bill shall be clearly expressed in its title. The title of the present bill is: "An act to prohibit the adulteration of foods and providing for the enforcement thereof." There is no prabable prohibition in the bill which is not contained in the act of June 26, 1895. The subject of the bill purports to be the prohibition of the sale of fruit syrups, prepared fruits and fruit products, containing "more than one-fourth of one per centum of sodium benzoate or more than one-fourth of one per centum of added color," obtained from harmless vegetable substances.
> As the act of 1895 prevents the use of these substances, this bill, if it becomes a law, would be a repeal to that extent of the former act. It would also be such a repeal without any reference whatever to the preceding act, as the Constitution requires. The subject of the bill, however, is not the prohibition of the adulteration of foods since this subject had been much more fully covered by the prior legislation. The real purpose is found in the words "but the use of such added substances in such preparations or proportions or less shall be and is hereby permitted."
> To this subject, which constitutes the really important part of the bill, there is no reference whatever in the title and therefore the bill is plainly unconstitutional. Since these important words are contained in the midst of a long section, the bill is calculated to mislead the legislator and is an unusually striking example of the evil which the provision of the Constitution with respect to the title was intended to prevent. For these reasons the bill is not approved.

Because of the small house, the bill fixing the salary of the attorney general, also that regulating the barbers of the commonwealth, on third reading today, were allowed to go over. In the way of new legislation Mr. Kline of Pittsburgh introduced a measure which provides for the appointment by county commissioners of inspectors of scales, weights and measures. Such an act was passed two years ago, but was declared unconstitutional, as it applied only to counties of the first and second class. The present bill is general in its character and leaves to the discretion of the county commissioners how many inspectors they shall appoint. The secretary of internal affairs is directed to supply the necessary paraphernalia of the office.

Bank Tax Bill Reported.

The house ways and means committee today favorably reported several bills of importance, providing they become laws. The March bill, which has been indorsed by Auditor General Snyder, was of the most general public interest. It requires every bank or savings institution incorporated under any law of the commonwealth or of the United States, located within this state, to pay a tax of 4 mills upon each dollar of the actual value thereof. The auditor general says this bill would equalize taxation on banks and other financial institutions and produce annually a revenue of about $250,000. The bill, however, will deprive the counties of their share of the personal property tax held by institutions paying this proposed tax, as it provides:

> That the shares and so much of the capital and profit of such banks and savings institutions as shall not be invested in real estate, shall be exempt from local taxation under the laws of this commonwealth, and such bank or saving institution shall not be required to make any report to the local assessors or county commissioners of its personal property owned by it in its own right for the purpose of taxation, and shall not be required to pay any tax thereon.

Under the present law counties collect the tax on personal property three-fourths of which is returned to the counties after it has been received by the state treasurer.

The ways and means committee also reported two bills providing that corporations of the second class shall not amend or improve their charters or merge the same until they have filed with the auditor general a certificate showing the payment of all taxes and the submission of such reports as are required by law. The object of this bill is the liquidation of corporative arrearages prior to the acquirement of the special privileges cited.

An interesting bill was that yesterday introduced by Representative A. A. Thompson of Fayette, entitled "an act to amend to section 15, 16 and 17 of an act entitled, 'an act to restrain and regulate the sale of vinous and spirituous, malt or brewed liquors, or any mixture thereof,' approved the 13th day of May, 1887, relating to the penalties and fines therein proscribed and giving the court discretionary power in relation thereto."

Explaining this bill, Mr. Thompson said: The purport of this bill is to further the ends of justice, providing amendments which have been approved by the courts and the bar which have passed upon the proposition. It provides that any person who shall be convicted of selling or offering for sale any vinous, spirituous, malt or brewed liquors, or admixture thereof, shall in minimum penalty be fined $200 and undergo an imprisonment in the county jail of not less than three nor more than twelve months, or either or both, at the discretion of the court. The effect of the amendments is that is gives the court discretionary power in penalties of this character.

Will Urge Court Bills.

Representative Cook said today that, regardless of staying influences, the bills providing for two additional common pleas courts in Allegheny county, now on third reading and final passage, would be pressed for action next Tuesday or Wednesday. These measures have passed the senate. There has been a disposition on the part of some people to predict that the governor would disapprove both. Such a prophecy is without foundation. Gov. Pennypacker is my authority. He said that he had given no person any intimation as to his probable action. If the bills reach him, he expects that the bar of Allegheny county will, if possible, submit sufficient reasons for the approval of one or both.

Senator Penrose is expected at the capital Monday or Tuesday. He will have a very busy time. Of the 204 members and the 50 senators there are few who have not personal requests to make. Each has his own particular legislation pending. From Allegheny county he will receive appeals to assist in the passage of a Greater Pittsburgh bill, of the new court bills and appropriations for the Western university and many hospital measures. It is believed that the senator is very kindly disposed to those who are supporting these propositions and his assistance is relied upon.

Committee Coming to Pittsburgh.

The appropriations committee of the house, accompanied by Speaker Walton, will leave tomorrow for an inspection of the Danville State insane hospital. From Danville the committee will go to Pittsburgh to be the guests at a reception on Saturday of the Associated Hospitals of Pittsburgh and Allegheny.

Among the bills reported from committee was the senate bill creating an additional law judge in Erie county. The bill creating a committee to revise the bituminous mine laws was also reported from committee.

Following were among the bills passed finally:

> Providing for the examination and licensing of engineers having charge of steam boilers, steam engines, etc., in cities of the second and third class, and providing further that the proposed act shall not become operative in third-class cities until after city councils have enacted legislation creating the office of boiler inspector.

CHESTER D. POTTER.

CZAR FORTIFYING INDIAN FRONTIER

War With Great Britain Is Regarded as Inevitable by Russian Officials.

TROOPS MOVING SOUTHWARD

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, March 9.—Russia is steadily reinforcing her military strength, both in men and guns, in the direction of the Indian frontier.

A traveler of unimpeachable authority, who has just arrived from Tashkend in Russian Turkestan, and who was a personal witness of military activity on the recently completed Orenburg-Tashkend and other strategic railroads through Merv to Krasnovodsk, says troops, guns and munitions of war have been moving southward for two months. Between the middle of January and the middle of February 56 military trains, mostly carrying artillery, arrived at Tashkend. The guns were mostly sent from Merv, from which place a military line goes to Kursk.

The traveler in question was informed that Russian troops had crossed Pamirs through Tersk pass, and garrisoned Kashgar. The Orenburg-Tashkend railroad was so crowded with troops the traveler was forced to return by way of Kraksnovodsk.

English Travel Forbidden.

The informant states that the greatest secrecy is observed. Travelers in the region must be supplied with special permits by the minister of war, and are kept under the closest surveillance. The baggage of this traveler was twice seized and searched, although his papers were regular. It is most significant that local officials have been ordered not to permit Englishmen to travel in Russian Turkestan, and steamship captains on the sea have been forbidden to allow Englishmen to land on the eastern shore. At Krasnovodsk the informant was told that two English officers who were traveling in disguise are in prison.

The traveler said the greatest tranquility prevailed in the Turkestan region. At Bokhara there were only vague rumors that a war was in progress, and absolutely nothing was known regarding political developments in European Russia. The only explanation of the renewal of Russia's military activity there is that it probably is a demonstration to impress Afghanistan.

A Russian of high position today made the following statement:

Grievances of Russia.

"Russia has not any designs on India, as England is so fond of alleging. If Great Britain would only let us alone we would not trouble her; but we are not blind to the manner in which she has seized the occasion of the present war to buttress all her interest in Central Asia, where we have as vital interests as she; nor can we Russians get over the idea that, sooner or later, a conflict with our traditional enemy is inevitable.

"We realize that our only path to victory lies in the direction of India. Without going back to Lord Curzon's bombastic proclamations or any thing prior to the war, and omitting consideration of manner in which she has sought to embarrass and discredit us in its prosecution, we recall what Great Britain has done in Asia since the outbreak of hostilities, and ask whether Russia would not be justified in making a counter move to Younghusband's expedition to Tibet, which was in direct violation of Great Britain's solemn assurances to us.

"Younghusband negotiated a treaty which so closely approached a protectorate over Tibet that the British government was obliged to administer a public rebuke to him. Then Lord Kitchener's statement of the reorganization of the Indian army blossomed, and a so-called commercial expedition was sent to Persia. The son of the ameer of Afghanistan was next brought to Bombay. Then pressure was put upon Turkey to settle the Aden Hinterland question, and now there is a project of an autonomous Arabia.

"Great Britain has been making hay while the sun shone, but Russia cannot hold her hands and see Tibet and Afghanistan converted into Bhutans or Nepals, nor Persia placed completely under British influence. Great Britain will find Russia is not so engrossed or helpless as to be obliged to relinquish border states to her mercy without a struggle."

Worry Goes To the Stomach

Tears Down the Little Telegraph Lines That Operate and Control the Digestive Process.

How to Repair These Telegraph Lines.

I Will Gladly Give Any Stomach Sufferer a Full Dollar's Worth of My Remedy Free to Try.

I ask no deposit—no reference—no security. There is nothing to risk—nothing to pay, either now or later. Any stomach sufferer who does not know my remedy may have a full dollar's worth free if he merely writes and asks.

I willingly make this liberal offer because Dr. Shoop's Restorative is not an ordinary stomach remedy. It does not, indeed, treat the stomach itself. It goes beyond—it treats the nerves that control and operate the stomach. The nerves that wear out and break down, and cause stomach trouble. For stomach trouble is really only a symptom that there is serious nerve trouble inside. That is why ordinary remedies fail. That is why my remedy succeeds. That is why I can afford to make this offer.

Yet do not misunderstand me when I say "nerves." I do not mean the nerves you ordinarily think about. I mean the automatic stomach nerves over which your mind has no control. I have not the space here to explain to you how the nerves control the stomach, or how they may be vitalized and restored. When you write I will send you a book which will make these points clear. But this much is certain—ailing nerves cause all forms of stomach trouble—indigestion, belching, heartburn, insomnia, nervousness, dyspepsia. No stomach medicine will cure these ailments. Only nerve treatment will do that. No other remedy than Dr. Shoop's Restorative even claims to reach these nerves.

What ails the stomach nerves? Worry, probably. Mental anguish destroys their tiny fibers and tears down the telegraph lines without which the stomach has no more self-control than a sponge. Overwork will do it. Irregular habits will do it. Overeating will do it. Dissipation will do it. But the effect is the same—stomach failure.

No matter how these nerves become impaired—I know a way to rebuild their strength—to restore their vigor. It is a remedy which took thirty years of my life to perfect—a remedy which is now known in more than fifty thousand communities in more than a million homes—as Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

If you have stomach trouble and have never tried my remedy, merely write and ask. I will send you an order on your druggist which he will accept as gladly as he would accept a dollar. He will hand you from his shelves a standard sized bottle of my prescription, and he will send the bill to me. This offer is made only to strangers to my remedy. Those who have once used the Restorative do not need this evidence. There are no conditions—no requirements. It is open and frank and fair. It is the supreme test of my limitless belief. All that I ask you to do is to write—write today.

For a free order for a full dollar bottle you must address Dr. Shoop, Box L 568, Racine, Wis., State which book you want.	Book 1 on Dyspepsia. Book 2 on the Heart. Book 3 on the Kidneys. Book 4 for Women. Book 5 for Men. Book 6 on Rheumatism.

Mild cases are often cured by a single bottle. For sale at forty thousand drug stores.

RAYNOR MAY PLAY WITH THE RED AND WHITE TEAM

Former Popular Hockey Star Will Be Called on to Help Defeat the Klondike Seven.

The second game in the series between the Klondiker and P. A. C. teams will be played at Duquesne garden this evening. The opening contest, which was won by the team from the gold country, was very interesting. The P. A. C. seven showed a lack of practice, but should play a much better game tonight. There is a possibility that Raynor, a former favorite here, may play on the P. A. C. team in the two remaining games. Raynor is located at Youngstown. Though he has not played any hockey since last season, he is one of the few hockey players who always keeps in condition, and should he get in the game against the Klondikers he will add strength to the local team.

Manager Boyle was pleased with his team's victory in the opening game. Though he feels that his men did not play as fast a game as they are capable of, he reasons that their traveling has in a way slackened their speed. The game will begin at 8:30. Hughey Jack will referee. The lineup follows:

Klondikers.		P. A. C.
Forrest	Goal	Donnelly
Johnston	Point	Abl
Hannay	Cover Point	Williams
Kennedy	Center	Keeh
McLennan	Rover	Taylor
Fairbairn	Left Wing	Hendry, Raynor
Lannon	Right Wing	Bright

TOOK EXTRA TIME.

Fairmont Seven Won from Four As After Hard Struggle.

The Fairmont team defeated the four As in a fast game at the Garden last night, 1 to 0. In the first half of the game the teams played about even and neither side could score. In the second half the Fairmonts took a brace and played all around the four As, but the four As' defense was equal to the occasion, and the second half ended 0 to 0. By mutual agreement an extra five minutes was played and Hill of the Fairmonts made the score that won the game just about 10 seconds before time was called. Line-up:

Chandler	Guard	McKee
Dunlap	Point	Kock
Crukston	Cover point	Capple

WORK FOR PHENICIE.

The Little Boxer Will Be Busy for Some Time.

"Jock" Phenicie, who has been to Windber the last few days will arrive here today and will work out this afternoon at the Business Men's gymnasium this afternoon. Phenicie is one of the busiest boxers that can be found around here at the present time, and he will not only meet Young Marvin Hart at Old City hall on Monday, but he will tackle Frank Manuel tomorrow night at the hall of the Business Men's club in the main bout of six rounds. In addition to the above bout tomorrow night several other fine bouts will take place and if the Philadelphia boxers get in in time they will be introduced to the crowd.

Jack McClelland has at last got down to real work and intends to be in fine shape for the six-round contest with Young Kid McCoy on St. Patrick's night, at McKeesport.

WILL PLAY THE INDIANS.

Wash-Jeff Schedules a Game With the Carlisle Eleven.

WASHINGTON, PA., March 9.—(Special.)—Manager John O. Wicke of the Washington and Jefferson college football team has secured a game in Washington next fall with the Carlisle Indians, to take the place of the annual contest with State college. The date will be given out later. W. and J. has twice played the Indians, tying them both times. Wicks also announced today that the game with the Princeton team would be played on September 30, at Princeton, and that there would be contests with Dickinson and one other eastern eleven. At a meeting of the student athletic committee at Washington and Jefferson college today Walter K. Chess of Carnegie was elected assistant football manager for 1905.

Hockey Team Wants Games.

The Duquesne Garden hockey team has the undisputed championship well in hand, as it has only been scored on by one team this season. The Garden team is not satisfied with having the undisputed championship and would rather play a few games with some good fast teams that can play championship hockey, the Irvings or the Fairmonts preferred. Teams desiring games, see Charley Sweeney.

Run for the Doctor

Some people think it necessary to do so on the slightest occasion——Other people and a great many of them, who are much wiser, very seldom have to call a doctor.

Why?

Because they always have at hand, ready in case of sudden sickness or accident, a bottle of Hamlins Wizard Oil——the best and most reliable substitute for the family doctor, and one that very often makes his presence entirely unnecessary——Wizard Oil relieves immediately, and cures all pain from whatsoever cause. Price, 50c. and $1.00.

CLOSE MARGIN FOR THE TREATY

Strong Probability That Santo Domingo Protocol Will Fail in Senate.

REPORTED BY A PARTY VOTE

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., March 9.

There is a strong probability that the senate will refuse to ratify the Santo Domingo treaty, even in the greatly changed form in which it was reported today by the committee on foreign relations. Several senators friendly to the treaty tonight regard its defeat as a foregone conclusion.

The treaty was reported today by a strictly party vote in the committee. Senators Cullom, Frye, Lodge, Clark of Wyoming, Foraker, Spooner and Kean voted for it. Senators Morgan, Bacon, Money, Clark of Montana and McCreary voted against it.

The Democrats are lining up solidly against it, and if the administration cannot get at least three votes from the minority it will be defeated, because the treaty requires a two-thirds vote of all the senators present, and the Republicans are several votes short of having two-thirds in the senate. Democrats who were yesterday counted on for help by the administration, have changed their position, because they have obtained no specific expression from the White House and the state department that the administration will not at some future time exercise a protectorate or sovereignty over Santo Domingo.

President's Course Justified.

How serious is the situation in the senate was shown today when Secretary Hay issued a statement to the press regarding the connection of the government with Santo Domingo previous to the negotiations for the treaty now under consideration. In this statement Secretary Hay said:

> I should like, if possible, to set at rest the confused, misleading and harmful reports concerning the negotiations not only of the Santo Domingo protocol now under consideration by the senate of the United States, but also the instrument signed at Santo Domingo city on January 21, which is sometimes referred to as the Dillingham-Sanchez agreement.
> It has been asserted and persistently repeated that the department of state had knowledge of the existence of the agreement of January 21 prior to the announcement in the public press that such an instrument had been signed at Santo Domingo city.
>
> It has been further asserted that there was an intention and purpose on the part of the president and the department of state which looked to the hasty carrying into effect of some important arrangement with the Dominican government without duly submitting to the senate for its advice and consent any instrument in the nature of a treaty or protocol. Neither the president nor any of the officials of the state department ever had any such intention or purpose. Nothing was known of the agreement of January 21 until it was learned, through the medium of the public press, that such an instrument had been signed in Santo Domingo city. It was then decided that, as many reports and rumors concerning the agreement were reaching the papers (some of which indicated that negotiation for the annexation of the island was proposed), it would be wise to make a statement concerning the matter to the public to allay any apprehension concerning the purpose of the administration.
> When this statement was made on January 20, only a brief abstract of the arrangement which had been signed at Santo Domingo city had been communicated officially to the department.

Secret Treaty Never Discussed.

> It was never for a moment contemplated that there would not be submitted to the United States senate at the proper time for its consideration a protocol or treaty embodying the essential features of the agreement signed on the 21st of January at Santo Domingo city, which agreement was signed at that time for the purpose of meeting the requirements of certain political conditions at Santo Domingo to avert further disorder and bloodshed.
> The action of our representative in this respect was approved. When the full text of the agreement of January 21 reached Washington the department's draft, which is the protocol now before the senate, was promptly considered, prepared and cabled to Santo Domingo, where it was signed some days later.
> No purpose of putting either the agreement of January 21 or the protocol now before the senate into practical operation without submitting it to the senate for approval, was ever entertained, considered or discussed.
> The administration was proceeding in the usual and ordinary way; that is, it was negotiating the treaty through the customary and acknowledged agencies, and when that instrument was thought to be in proper form, it was duly submitted to the senate.

MISSIONARY WOMEN MEET.

Baptist Church Societies Hold Annual Meeting and Elect New Officers.

At the annual meeting of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary societies of the Pittsburgh Baptist association in the Beth Eden church, Juniata and Chartiers street, Allegheny, yesterday, about 200 women, representing 40 churches, were present. Mrs. F. W. Squibb, president of the Home society, presided at the morning session, and Mrs. J. S. Hutson conducted the devotional exercises. Mrs. D. C. Williams read the annual report of the home division and Mrs. J. A. Coffin reported that the foreign society spent $1,500. Mrs. Charles Fletcher, secretary of the Junior Home society, reported her society spent about $1,500 in the work. The report of the Junior Foreign society was read by the secretary, Mrs. J. A. Maxwell. The following were elected officers at the afternoon session:

Home society—President, Mrs. F. W. Squibb; vice president, Mrs. W. T. Bown; secretary, Mrs. Minnie Logan; corresponding secretary, Mrs. George Daugherty; treasurer, Mrs. H. S. Loy.

Foreign society—President, Mrs. J. A. Hall; vice president, Mrs. Mary Reymer; secretary, Miss Jennie M. Hutchinson; treasurer, Mrs. J. A. Coffin.

Mrs. Hall presided at the afternoon session and Mrs. J. A. Bonsal led the devotional exercises. Mrs. O. A. Smith and Mrs. H. W. Vincent read papers on missionary societies. Mrs. J. A. Hall spoke on Japanese missions. Miss Flora Woernly sang a solo and a Japanese hymn was sung by the little daughters of the Rev. T. E. Schumaker, who has been a Baptist missionary at Otara, Japan, for 15 years.

Not Neglecting Old Men.

While the National Tube Company has imported experts to assist in the construction of the new tube mills at McKeesport, local workmen are not neglected. Yesterday James Simpson, of Library Manor, McKeesport, a master mechanic at the National rolling mill, was promoted to be superintendent of construction on the new mills. Joseph B. Skewes, Jr., will fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Simpson's promotion.

Concert at the California Normal.

An interesting concert is scheduled for this evening at California. It is to be given by the Dudley Buck concert company, which consists of members of the Normal school faculty, assisted by the Girls' Glee club of the same school, and Prof Joseph Wheeler of Pittsburgh, in the Cumberland Presbyterian church.

A BONA FIDE SECURITY.

The Earning Power of a Department Store Much Greater Than That of Any Other Mercantile or Industrial Enterprise.

In the formation of the Leader Co-operative Department Store, a corporation recently organized under a capitalization of one million dollars, the man or woman of small means has an opportunity to realize a sure and safe dividend on the money invested, and at the same time share the benefits and advantages that are open to those who become shareholders in this co-operative organization.

The Leader Department store, in taking over the once popular Gusky block will be open for business April 1st next. Judging from the Leader store's first year's business volume of nearly one-half million dollars, it is safe to assume that the aggregate volume in their new quarters will reach the million mark, and on this volume the stockholders would receive a handsome annual dividend. The securities of this corporation, being indorsed by the most prominent business firms of Pittsburgh, and having behind them the very best tangible assets, ought to be preferred to mining, industrial or even railway stocks. Anyone desirous of being connected with the largest co-operative department store in America may receive all necessary information and particulars from Messrs. John R. Cavanagh & Co., 608-609 Keystone building, 324 Fourth avenue, Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Mary E. Meserve, of Salisbury, Mass., was cured of Anæmia, a disease in which there is an actual deficiency of the blood, by the use of

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People

She says: "The first symptom was an unusual paleness. Later the blood seemed to have all left my body. I had shortness of breath and fluttering of the heart; was depressed, morose and peevish. I suffered for two years. Physicians did me little good but I am now a well woman because I took twelve boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

These pills really make new blood and have cured obstinate cases of rheumatism, scrofula and erysipelas. They are especially useful to growing girls.

Heart Weakness.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure has made many hearts well after they have been pronounced hopeless. It has completely cured thousands, and will almost invariably cure or benefit every case of heart disease.

Short breath, pain around heart, palpitation, fluttering, dizzy, fainting and smothering spells should not be neglected. Take Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and see how quick you will be relieved.

It cannot make a new heart, but will restore a sick one by strengthening the heart nerves and muscles, relieving the unnatural strain, and restoring its vitality.

"I had a very bad case of heart trouble. For six months I could not work. Last July I was plowing corn and feeling bad all day; in the afternoon in plowing one row I had to lay down, or fall down, three times. My heart throbbed as though it would burst through, and I had difficulty in getting my breath. I purchased a bottle of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, and before I had used half of it I could lay down and sleep all night. Previously I had to get up from five to ten times a night. I have taken several bottles, and my heart is as regular as clock work. I feel like a new man, and can work considerable for an old man, 84½ years old."
H. D. McGILL, Frost, Ohio.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails he will refund your money.

Genuine Yedda Braid generally retails at 25c per yard. We offer these in black, white, brown, navy, castor, champagne, reseda, pearl, pink, blue, violet and mulberry. GREAT OUTPOUR AT BENCH SHOW

Crowds Made Old City Hall's Walls Bulge to See Great Classes Judged.

BIG FEATURES COME TODAY

The second day of the Duquesne Kennel club's bench show was a revelation to Pittsburghers of the possibilities in the dog show direction here. Streams of visitors poured into Old City hall from the time the doors opened, and in the evening the crush was such as almost to make the walls bulge.

In the regular classes, yesterday was the banner day in judging. The important classes to go into the ring were the Boston terriers, bulldogs, French bulldogs, beagles and pomeranians. Other breeds were judged, but on these chief interest was centered.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt's French bull dogs moved irresistibly to victory wherever they were entered. The disappointment was that their owners were not present to see their triumph. Their handler at the last moment wired them there was nothing in competition to fear.

The Vanderbilt's Marcus, after winning in the novice, limit, open, and winners classes for dogs, also captured his special. Not to be outdone his kennel mate, Ch. Nellcote Poupoule, won in the open and winners classes for bitches, and then walked away with her special. Velour Noir won in the puppy and limit classes.

Local Dogs Won Honors.

Pittsburgh carried off nearly everything in the Pomeranian classes. It was a great day for Mrs. F. S. Stedman's Shadyside kennels. Her Shadyside Billy, which is the only American-bred champion, won in the winners class for dogs, and her Shadyside Topsey in the same class for the opposite sex. They were both bred by Mrs. Stedman. Shadyside Billy also won his special for the best American-bred dog. Mrs. W. F. Render's Lady Denby and Lady Derwent won the important specials, the former being also placed first in the puppy class. Mrs. Louis Daingerfield brought out a good one in Miss Pittsburgh, which won in the novice and was second in the open.

The keenest competition was in the Boston terrier classes, as the great ones, after reversals in judging elsewhere, met here under a new judge, W. J. Green. Ch. Colonel Monte was placed over Eastover Lancelot, with Mrs. L. E. Stoddard's King Richard third in the open, and this placing was followed in the winners class. Lancelot beat at Boston, Monte and seven other champions in the special for the best Boston in the show, and the latter's admirers thought he would give him a run here for this reason.

Highball a Big Surprise.

The placing of Myron W. Robinson's Lady Anthony over Frank F. Dole's Lady Highball in the winner's class for bitches was a big surprise and differences of opinion were heard about the ringside.

In the bulldog class Earlington kennel's Rufus Stone easily carried off the honors, being placed first in the limit, open and winner's classes. In the limit, open and winner's classes for bitches Mrs. George Steadman Thomas' Endcliffe Orry Model won limit, open and winners over the good local bitch of D. W. Williams' Mersham Bess, which did so well in New York. But Pittsburgh was not to be denied, for G. Wash Moore's Sunshine won two big specials.

Today the judging will have the feature of the show as all the variety classes will go into the ring. Champions of all breeds will clash, and so on down through the other classes. Saturday morning will be given over to the children.

Considerable inconvenience was occasioned by the lateness in arrival of Judge C. G. Hopton, the same thing occurring in the afternoon. The classes had to be changed to fill up the breach, carrying the judging into the night.

The Frawley Boxing Law Passes New York Senate.

ALBANY, March 9.—(Special.)—Amateur boxers scored a victory in the senate today when the Frawley bill was passed by a vote of 33 to 14. Senators Grady and Frawley were the most active in contending for the measure, while Senator Lewis of Monroe led a disastrous contest in opposition.

Senator Grady in asking for the passage of the bill, said: "It was drawn simply to encourage the youth of the land in the manly art of self-defense, as against the cowardly use of pistols, knives and bludgeons. It is not a prize-fighting measure, but simply provides for boxing between amateurs."

WAGNER AGAIN IN PIRATE RANKS

Carnegie Boy Signed Contract, but May Not Be Able to Make Training Trip.

PLAYERS ALL IN LINE

The Pirates are now ready for the road, the last player has been signed, and all the arrangements for the spring training trip have been completed. The last to get into line was Hans Wagner. Hans appeared at headquarters yesterday and after a short talk with the club owner affixed his signature to a contract.

There was a report that there was a financial difference between the player and Mr. Dreyfuss, but this was denied by both parties. Wagner said his reason for holding off was that there was no hurry about a matter of that kind and that Dreyfuss knew he would be in line when the proper time arrived. Wagner may not be able to get away with the rest of the players on the training trip on Sunday evening, the reason being the serious illness of his father.

Hans is a dutiful son and he does not care to take a chance on being away from hime in case anything should happen. The elder Wagner has been suffering from an attack of pneumonia for some weeks, and while the danger line has been passed, still his being an old man makes his case rather dangerous, and Hans will not leave him unless assured by the attending physician that all danger is passed. Wagner senior is well known to the grandstand patrons of the ball park, as he is in the employ of the club as a watchman in the stand, his duty being to keep a careful lookout for fires.

The Hot Springs party is growing. W. H. Taylor, a Pittsburgh boy who has been signed by the Little Rock club of the Southern league, was registered last night. The party will be the largest ever taken south by any club. President Dreyfuss will have between thirty-three and thirty-five persons under his care at Hot Springs.

All of the players have now been signed, and the work of getting them into condition for the six months' contest will begin in earnest next Tuesday. It has been decided to form two teams and have practice games every afternoon at Hot Springs. Trainer Ed Laforce arrived yesterday and is getting the baggage and uniforms ready. He had to move all of the properties from Exposition park yesterday on account of the high water. The infield was flooded last night for the first time since last spring.

President Dreyfuss sent by registered letter to President Harry C. Pulliam of the National league last night eighteen contracts with Pittsburgh players for the season of 1905.

BASKETBALL NOTES.

The Tenth U. P. Reserves defeated the Rambler Midgets at the Ramblers' hall, 24 to 19.

The Duquesne Midgets would like to hear from all 8 to 9-year-old teams having halls. Address Edward Moller, 1916 Jane street, South Side, city.

The Sycamore Reserves have secured the use of Phipp's gymnasium for Saturday nights, and all 10 and 11-year-old teams can have games by writing to William C. Skiles, Allegheny.

In last Thursday morning's paper the Duquesnes claimed to have defeated the Hillsdale basketball club 45 to 12. The manager of the Hillsdale team wishes to announce that the Duquesnes did not play the Hillsdale club as the old Hillsdale club has disbanded on account of not getting a hall for the season. In the game Wednesday night there were only two Hillsdale players, Goshosky and Cuper, and they had no authority to use the name of the Hillsdale club. If the Duquesnes are anxious for a game with the Hillsdale team, their manager will be more than willing to arrange for any open date the Duquesnes have. Address A. W. Harper, 1831 Frick building, city.

WIFE SECURES AN INJUNCTION

Declares Her Husband Is Trying to Defraud Her and Their Children.

PARTNER IS NOT SATISFIED

Emma Caldwell filed an equity suit against her husband, Richard S. Caldwell, yesterday and secured an injunction restraining him from mortgaging his property. Mrs. Caldwell claims he intends to defraud her and their two children of their rights by confessing judgment against his property. She alleges he was so barbarous in his treatment of her that she was compelled to leave him. A rule was granted on the defendant to make answer.

In the divorce suit of Mrs. Elizabeth Weigand against Anthony Weigand, the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff. She charged her husband with cruel and barbarous treatment.

The divorce trial list in common pleas court No. 2 will not be taken up until April 17, instead of April 1. The equity trial list in this court will be taken up on April 26.

James Whyte filed a bill in equity against his former partners in the James Whyte Company, general contractors in brick work, asking for an accounting. The partners named are H. L. Kreusler, Thomas V. Wise and Charles J. Boyce. Whyte alleges that about $24,000 profits had accrued when the company dissolved, of which he received $11,637.82, but claims he has never been able to secure a final settlement and believes there is $600 yet due him. He charges Wise and Kreusler with making improper entries in the books.

Answers were filed to the equity suit brought by Edward A. Nisbett against Mary A. Rice, Harry E. McLain, Reese Lindsay and the Duquesne Development Company, a mining organization, which Nisbett asks to be restrained from selling property, claiming there is stock due him. The answers filed by Miss Rice, who originally owned the claims in Idaho, and Lindsay and McLain deny that any stock is due Nisbett; that the concern voted to sell the claims to pay debts incurred, and that Nisbett's suit has tied up proceedings and is jeopardizing their interests.

William Miller pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing hides from a Baltimore & Ohio railroad car and was sent to the workhouse for one year. Harry Jones, convicted of holding up and robbing Ernest Jones, of North Braddock, gets a similar sentence.

James Maloney pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing a gold watch and chain from James Carson, and was sent to the workhouse for nine months. Margaret Jlles was sent to the workhouse for 90 days, for receiving stolen goods.

Peter Reinhardt pleaded no defense to a charge of false pretense, made by A. S. Fisher in behalf of the Lebanon Valley Savings and Loan association. Reinhardt is alleged to have secured money from the association by making false representations. He was not sentenced. Clifford Johnston and H. F. Byron pleaded no defense to a charge of entering the store of Charles H. Adelman, in Fifth avenue. Both will be sentenced later.

John Slattery, Bernard Rodgers and Robert Berry pleaded no defense to a charge of holding up and robbing Joseph Paul of $4. The men were not sentenced.

Among the true bills returned by the grand jury was one against Leroy Love of New Castle, who was arrested for stealing an express package containing $5,600 from the Adams Express Company. After his arrest by Pinkerton detectives Love made a confession and part of the money was recovered. Love was employed as a clerk by the express company. The bill contains two counts, one charging larceny by bailee and the other embezzlement.

Other true bills are: Felony, Clyde Huggins; robbery, George Washington, David Washington, Vincent Goudish et al.; felonious assault and battery, Joe Wehrickek; aggravated assault and battery, Charles Adams, John Miller, James Reed; assault and battery, Ada Buckley, Hannah Craig, Henry Cawley, Joseph Madigan, Joseph Murtha, Robert Price; entering a building, etc., James Wilson, Frank Clark; larceny from the person, Harry Goodman et al.; larceny, Joseph Browosky, Walter Ball, May Clawson, Howard A. Jackson, Charles Kamile, Joseph Manazinski, John Michua, Dennis McIntyre; larceny by bailee, Henry Bechtold, John Carter, Joseph Madigan; false pretense, John Arthur, A. L. Goldston, Frank Kettle, Columbus D. Zellner; selling liquor illegally, Felix Fusco; keeping a gambling house, John Reagan, Edward Morris; misdemeanor, George Byers, Andrew Crockett, Peter Gotz.

SINGERS ARE COMING.

Grand Opera Artists Will Begin to Arrive Here Tomorrow for Next Week's Work.

The singers of renown who will appear at the Nixon next week in grand opera will begin to reach Pittsburgh tomorrow. Among those to come first are Miss Olive Fremstad and Alois Burgstaller, who enact the roles of "Kundry" and "Parsifal" in the performance of "Parsifal;" Andreas Dippel, who will be heard in "Die Meistersinger;" Miss Edith Walker, who is to be heard in "La Gioconda," and Mme. Louise Homer, well and favorably known to Pittsburghers.

Mme. Sembrich and Enrico Caruso, who created such a sensation in Boston on Monday night with the opera "La Gioconda," will leave the "Hub" tomorrow morning and spend Sunday in Pittsburgh, with the view of being in perfect condition for the opening presentation on next Monday evening.

PRESS CLUB AFTERNOON.

Newspaper Men Prepare Handsome Souvenir for Annual Event.

"Press Club Afternoon" at the Nixon theater on Wednesday, March 22, promises one of the enjoyable events of the season. The attraction will be Macklyn Arbuckle in George Ade's most successful attempt, "The County Chairman." The play is admitted the leader among the new ones of the year, and Ade's knowledge of rural life and his well-known ability to arrange his scenes and characters in the most entertaining manner insure an afternoon of enjoyment.

A feature of the occasion will lie in the program which the members of the committee are preparing. As an entertainment souvenir it will stand alone. It will embrace stories and poems from the pens of some of the city's leading journalists, all of which will be illustrated by the artists of the city papers.

Japs Treat Prisoners Well.

Charles Silk, a business man of McKees Rocks, has received a letter from his cousin, Joseph Liss, who is a prisoner of war in Japan, where he was sent with the Russian soldiers after the fall of Port Arthur. He states in the letter that the Japanese are treating the prisoners like brothers, and that the men are thankful to be relieved of the hardships experienced during the 11-months' siege at Port Arthur. Liss requested Silk to forward the letter to his parents in Russia.

Railsplitters See Pittsburgh.

The Railsplitters, a famous Republican organization of Toledo, O., stopped in Pittsburgh yesterday on their way home from the inauguration at Washington. There were 108 men in the party, in addition to a band of 28 pieces. The men were taken to points of interest in this vicinity in four special cars. At the plant of the H. J. Heinz Company the club gave an exhibition drill and took dinner at the plant. The club went to Toledo late in the afternoon.

Bribe Was Not Large.

Ordinance Officer Matthew Greinder received a letter yesterday signed "A Worker and Honest Citizen." Inclosed was a $5 bill, with the request that Greinder would endeavor to secure the reinstatement of J. A. Getty, a former ordinance officer, who was dismissed after 10 years' service. The letter was turned over to Director Moore, who sent the money to the city treasury.

Railroad News.

Information emanating from Cleveland is to the effect that the proposition for a loan from the Cleveland bankers to help in the promotion of the Lake Erie & Pittsburgh and the Cleveland, Youngstown & Eastern has been refused. It was given out that the reason the Forest City financiers did not assist in financing the projected line was because it has no feeders. The general belief in railroad circles is that no railroad is complete or can be profitable without feeders. In the east the road would be connected with the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh, and in the west the feeder was to be the Wabash. The objections to these two are that the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh depends upon other roads for its tidewater outlet, and that the Wabash has been for some time trying to get into Youngstown and Lorain. The promoters think the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie may purchase the line at the expiration of the agreement with the Erie and the Lake Shore.

Report of Joint Agency.

The report of the St. Louis joint validating agency covering the period of the world's fair, April 15 to December 31, has been issued by Joint Agent Norton. The total number of tickets deposited with the agency was 1,053,219. These tickets represent those purchased from a territory beyond a limit of 250 miles from St. Louis. The maximum force of 72 men were employed during October. Often the force worked overtime. By inspection at the gates 7,874 tickets were lifted on account of having been transferred from the original purchaser. In addition 7,988 tickets were taken from the offices of ticket brokers through attachments proceedings on account of which the offices were raided. The sales of one-way tickets both into and out of St. Louis indicates clearly the effect of the restriction thrown around the return portions of excursion tickets through the validating agency. These restrictions resulted in a saving of revenue to all lines interested of not less than $1,000,000.

To Build Houses for Employes.

Adopting a French plan for amalgamating the interests of the corporation and its employes, C. B. Yoakum, chairman of the executive committee of the 'Frisco system, has declared that a homestead will be provided for every employe of the system from vice president down to the section hand. The first experiment will be made on the Texas line. The plan is to purchase the ground and erect such a house as the employe chooses. The employe is to pay the amount back to the company in 10 years at a moderate interest. If the employe is killed the widow or children is given a clear deed without any further payments. If an employe leaves the company before the completion of the contract all the money paid in by him will be returned, together with interest, less the total of what the place would have brought in rental.

Coal and Coke Report.

A gradual improvement in the traffic congestion on the Pennsylvania lines is indicated by the largely increased tonnage in coal and coke originating on the lines east of Pittsburgh and Erie for the week ending March 4. This tonnage aggregated 857,440 tons, distributed as follows:

	1905. Week ending March 4.	1905. Year to March 4.
Anthracite coal	85,001	675,900
Bituminous coal	547,001	4,457,297
Coke	225,428	1,716,094
Totals	857,440	6,849,291

Rock Island-Frisco Well Represented.

General Agent D. H. Maloney of the Rock Island-Frisco system has received word that the following representatives of the general passenger department will be in Pittsburgh Monday and Tuesday to attend the fiftieth anniversary meeting of the American Association of General Passenger and Ticket Agents: L. M. Allen, general passenger agent Rock Island, Chicago, accompanied by Mrs. Allen; George H. Lee, assistant general passenger agent Rock Island, Little Rock; Alix Hilton, general passenger agent, Frisco, St. Louis; W. H. Richardson, general passenger agent Chicago & Eastern Illinois, Chicago.

Railroad Notes.

E. H. Bankard, purchasing agent of the Baltimore & Ohio, was in the city yesterday.

H. H. Temple, division engineer of the Baltimore & Ohio, inspected the Foxburg division yesterday.

A change has been made in the main line tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company through Brushton.

The Pullman company has created the position of superintendent of sanitation, with Dr. Thomas R. Crowder of Chicago in charge.

Robert Finney, general superintendent, and B. W. Duer, superintendent of the Baltimore & Ohio, left last night for Baltimore, where they will attend a banquet to be given in honor of Thomas Fitzgerald, recently appointed general manager. The event will take place this evening and 400 officials are expected to be present.

VOLUNTEER FIREMEN WERE RESCUED BY COMPANIONS

Volunteer firemen yesterday had a narrow escape from suffocation in the cellar of the building owned by H. E. Richards in McClure street, Dravosburg. Lime was stored in the basement and as soon as the firemen began to throw water into the building the lime sent out great volumes of suffocating fumes. Several amateur firemen entered the basement. Two succumbed and companions dragged them out. The building burned to the ground.

New Church to Be Dedicated.

The new United Brethren church in Wall borough will be dedicated on Sunday, March 19. The Rev. Dr. W. R. Funk, publishing agent of the United Brethren church, Dayton, O., will preach the dedicatory sermon, and will be assisted by the Rev. S. W. Keister, presiding elder of the Western district of the Allegheny conference. The church and site cost $10,000, and it is the first church erected in a community that is more than 100 years old. Rev. L. P. Urixall of Braddock, is pastor.

Ask for Smith's Appointment.

The appointment of A. G. Smith as tax collector of Neville township was recommended in a petition presented yesterday by residents of the township in quarter sessions court. A hearing in the case will be held on Saturday, March 18. The appointment is asked because the township failed to elect a tax collector at the last election.

It Must Come.

As inevitable as the changing seasons of the year is the change which comes to every woman. And just as one anticipates the changes of other seasons it is wise to anticipate this change of season and prepare for it. In this way the discomforts and disasters suffered by many women at the period of change can be avoided or overcome.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, a medicine for every season of woman's life, will entirely meet the needs of women at this period of change. It cures the physical ills and relieves the mental anxiety and depression usually associated with this critical period. It tranquilizes the nerves, encourages the appetite and induces refreshing sleep.

$500 REWARD! FOR WOMEN WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

J. S. Carlisle, Esq., of Manchester, Coffee Co., Tenn., writes: "I have been using your medicines for the last sixteen or eighteen years in my Poor-house. I am superintendent of the Coffee County Poor-house and Asylum combined. Your 'Favorite Prescription,' 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets' are the best medicines for the diseases for which they are recommended, that I ever used. They saved my wife's life at the time of 'change of life.' I have been recommending your medicine to many afflicted women and have also guaranteed that if it did not cure I would pay back the money spent for it. I have told our druggist that if the people came back and said Doctor Pierce's medicines did not give satisfaction, to give them back their money and charge it to me. I have not once been called upon to refund. I have never found anything to equal the 'Favorite Prescription' for diseases of women."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps for the paper covered book, or 31 stamps for the cloth bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

PASSION-A-T-A NERVE TABLETS will quickly and permanently cure all Nervous Diseases, Insomnia, Failing Memory, Despondency in either sex. NEW YORK STOCKS ACTIVE AND HIGHER

Nearly a Score of Stocks Advance to the Highest Level on This Movement—In the Local Market Prices Also Averaged Higher.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The New York stock market yesterday completely recovered its buoyant tone and closed higher all around. The sales for the day approximated 1,300,000 shares, and at no time was there any hesitation in the upward movement. The London market was stimulated by the action of the governors of the Bank of England in reducing the minimum rate of discount from 3 to 2½ per cent, and the strong statement made by the bank showed that the reduction was fully justified. There was a gain of more than $5,000,000 in total reserve, a reduction of more than $16,000,000 in loans, and the percentage of reserve rose to 56.47 per cent, the highest reported for years. The statements of the Imperial Bank of Germany and of the Bank of France were not so favorable, but they did not neutralize the effect of the London showing. English consols advanced to 91¼, and London was a large buyer of American securities. The foreign markets were favorably affected by the news from Manchuria, which foreshadowed an overwhelming defeat of the Russian forces and an early termination of the war. In fact a rumor was current just before the close of the market that the Russian commander had asked for an armistice, and if the defeat is as complete as indicated in the reports, it is hardly possible that the Russian government will feel able to put another force into the field. The sooner the war is ended the sooner will the work of restoring the loss begin, and there will be a cessation of new bond issues the proceeds of which are thrown to the sword and flame.

Nearly a score of New York stocks advanced to the highest prices on this movement, and some of them to the highest prices ever quoted. Copper and smelting stocks were the most prominent in the advance during the early part of the session and they maintained their leadership to the close. Anaconda Copper advanced to 121¾ and closed at a net gain of 9 per cent. Amalgamated Copper advanced to 80¾ and closed at a gain of 2¼ per cent. American Smelting common was decidedly buoyant, rising to 99⅝, the highest ever quoted. The preferred touched 121, also the highest ever quoted. National Lead closed at a net advance of 1¼ per cent. The Steel stocks soon joined the movement and became very strong. United States Steel common rose to 36¾ and the preferred to 96¼, the highest reached on this movement. Tennessee Coal and Iron closed 2 higher, and Colorado Fuel and Iron 1⅛ higher. The only industrial which failed to participate in the movement was Sugar, which broke from 145¼ to 143, and while it recovered a portion of the loss it closed 1¾ per cent lower for the day.

In the railroad list Reading made a new high record by advancing to 99¾, closing unchanged for the day. Canadian Pacific was active and buoyant advancing to 146⅝, the highest for more than a year. Hocking Valley common advanced from 92½ to 98 and the preferred from 94½ to 95½, the highest of the year. Atchison also advanced to the highest of the year and closed strong.

The strength of the Harriman stocks was a feature at one time during the day, with notable activity in Southern Pacific. New York Central, St. Paul and Rock Island also rallied sharply and closed at good gains.

Although the market was compelled to absorb an immense amount of profit-taking sales, the firm tone was fully maintained, and this was no doubt responsible for a covering movement which helped along the advance. Call loans were easy and sterling exchange lower.

In the Pittsburgh market there was a moderate increase in trading and a firmer tone, prices closing at or near the best. Crucible Steel common continued to lead in point of activity and closed ⅛ higher at 12¾ sales and bid. The preferred rallied to 64½. United States Steel common closed ½ and the preferred 1 per cent higher. Westinghouse Air Brake rallied to 149 and Westinghouse Electric to 90½ and both closed steady. Coal stocks were fairly active and steady with the exception of Pittsburgh Coal preferred, which closed ¼ off at 79¾. River Coal preferred rallied to and closed at 28⅛ bid, and trading in it was larger than for some time past. Independent Brewing common closed offered at 17⅞, and the preferred closed a fraction lower at 40⅝, but the bonds rallied to and closed at 108¼ bid. Tonopah Extension declined to $4 30, closing at a net loss of 45 cents a share. In the banking department declines of 2 per cent in Colonial Trust, 9 in Commonwealth Trust and 12 in Real Estate Trust were recorded. Safe Deposit and Trust closed unchanged at 430.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The following stocks sold yesterday at the highest prices for more than a year (in some instances the prices being the highest ever quoted), and the closing quotations were near the best: American Locomotive, preferred, 113; American Smelting, 99⅝; do preferred, 121; Anaconda Copper, 123¾; Atchison, 93⅜; do preferred, 104¼; Canadian Pacific, 146⅝; Hocking Valley, 98; do preferred, 95½; Norfolk & Western, 84¾; Reading common, 99¾; United States Realty Construction, 97; United States Steel, 36¾; do preferred, 96¼. In other parts of the list there was great strength, although new records were not made. Amalgamated Copper reached 80¾, which is within 2 per cent of the high mark reached early last December, when Mr. Lawson began his campaign. What made the movement yesterday all the more noteworthy was that it was accompanied by no particular development relating to any special stock. The impulse to the general market came from London, where foreigners became quite bullish over the action of the Bank of England in reducing its discount rate to 2½ per cent, the lowest since before the Boer war. In Wall street there must have been a large covering movement, and this demand from shorts occurring simultaneously with renewed buying on the part of the public, was sufficient to carry prices upward without rumor of deals or other more tangible cause. Much confidence was expressed by commission houses in a continuation of the rise today, and the favorites appeared to be Amalgamated Copper, United States Steel, Baltimore & Ohio and Union Pacific.

The New York traction stocks are holding up remarkably well in the face of the strike, which is the most serious in years in the street car business of the metropolis. It is stated that the Metropolitan Street railway last Tuesday carried 2,300,000 passengers, as compared with a normal number of 1,600,000. The stock yesterday closed at a net advance of ¼ per cent.

Independent Brewing bonds are in better demand than the common or preferred stock. Sales of the bonds yesterday were $23,000 at 108¼, an advance of ¼ per cent. The common stock closed lower at 17⅞ asked, no bid, and the preferred declined from 40⅞ to 40⅝, closing at the lowest. Pittsburgh Brewing common sold unchanged at 27½, and after the close of the market a sale of 100 shares of the preferred was reported at 47¼.

Tonopah Extension was weak yesterday, selling down to $4 30, which is $1 80 below the recent high price. Insiders say they have no news to account for the decline and do not know who is selling. There is no attempt to support the stock.

R. C. Hall reported the purchase of $50,000 United States government long 4s at 133.

Just before the close of the market Doty & Sutton bought 300 shares Pittsburgh Coal at 20½. Walker & Wainwright bought 500 shares Crucible Steel.

United Shoe Machinery directors have declared regular quarterly dividends of 1½ per cent on preferred and 2 per cent on common stocks. The latter was very active in the Boston market yesterday, breaking from 88 to 82 and recovering most of the loss.

The only motive assigned for the rise in Reading was a rumor that the dividend rate would be advanced to 4 per cent. Beyond this it was alleged that the floating supply of the stock has been so far reduced as to make it readily responsive to market operations, as has been demonstrated by the repeated success of parties formed to operate in it within the last few months. The present movement is ascribed to the same sources.

The spurt in Anaconda, Amalgamated Coppers' controlled stock, pointed to the sources from which the parent stock is to benefit by supposed dividend increase. Reports from the copper trade were bright and copper stocks were strong in all the world's great markets.

Canadian Pacific was supposed to be benefitting from large earnings by itself and its controlled properties, all of which moved up in company. The special demand for Atchison in the loan crowd pointed to an outstanding short interest as the source of some of the demand for it.

The lowering of the Bank of England discount rate is equivalent to a proclamation that urgent requirements upon capital have been met and that relaxing money conditions in the world's markets are to looked for.

The New York bond market was firmer and more active than on any previous day of the week. The sales reached $5,130,000. Government 2s advanced ¼ per cent on call.

It was thought that a great big block of Amalgamated Copper would be for sale at 80. As a matter of fact there are only 4,000 shares for sale there.

United Gas Improvement Company directors have declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent ($1) per share, payable April 15 to stockholders of record March 31.

National Sugar Company directors have declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent on the preferred stock, payable April 2.

Southern Railway directors have declared a dividend of 2½ per cent on the preferred stock, payable April 17.

St. Paul directors have declared regular semi-annual dividends of 3½ per cent on both common and preferred stock, payable April 24 to stock of record March 24.

The regular dividend of 1¼ per cent on Western Union is payable April 15 to stockholders of record at the closing of the books March 20.

Directors of the Safety Car Heating and Lighting Company have declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent and an extra dividend of 1½ per cent on the capital stock, payable April 1.

The directors of the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling Railway Company have declared the regular semi-annual dividend of 2½ per cent on the preferred stock.

The department of commerce and labor furnishes statistics of the savings banks of the world which show a grand total of depositors of 82,639,841, who have to their credit $10,099,885,102. The United States has a smaller number of depositors than France, Germany, Italy, Japan or the United Kingdom, or even Prussia, but has a larger amount of deposits than any other nation, the total being $3,060,178,611, except Germany, which has more than three times the number of depositors the United States reports, and $3,758,000,000 on deposit. The average deposit is $418 in this country and $152 50 in Germany. France, with 11,298,474 depositors, has total deposits of $847,224,910, and average deposits of but $75 01, which is an indication not of less wealth in France but of the fact that savings banks are not so generally used as in other countries. The United Kingdom has a few less depositors than France, but $968,854,253 deposits, and average deposits of $87 15. The average amount of savings bank deposits per inhabitant is greatest in Denmark, $96 41. In this country it is $37 38, in Germany it is $41 50, in France $21 25, Switzerland $62 28, in the United Kingdom $22 82, and in India but 15 cents.

James M. Swank in the Bulletin of the American Iron and Steel association, gives the total production of open hearth steel ingots and castings in the United States in 1904 as 5,907,666 gross tons, against 5,829,911 tons in 1903, an increase of 77,755 tons, or 1.3 per cent. The production of open hearth steel ingots in 1904, excluding castings, amounted to 5,605,332 gross tons, against 5,429,563 tons in 1903, an increase of 175,769 tons.

The National Telephone Company of England reports for the half year ended December 31 last a profit of £346,875, an increase of £19,136 over the same period of 1903. After meeting all charges, including the usual dividends, £115,000 was transferred to the reserves and £10,141 carried forward. The sum of £402,100 was expended upon new construction in the half year, in the erection of 18,625 additional exchanges and private stations.

TRADING INCREASED, MARKET BROADENED

Shorts Found Position Untenable, and Made Haste to Cover Commitments.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, March 10.—The Herald this (Friday) morning says:

General advances were made in the stock market yesterday. Trading was increased and the market broadened. Substantial gains were made in several properties, and the activity continued unabated until the close. There was little increase in outside or public interest beyond the operations of those who have been in the market off and on for several weeks.

The increase in business was due more to pool operations than to any increase in public interest in the stock market. Shorts found their position untenable in view of money market conditions and early in the day made haste to cover their commitments. There were no signs of distributive selling in special issues as the prices continued to advance. In several instances new high prices of the season were made yesterday.

The overshadowing influence in stimulating the market from a dull affair to which it has been drifting of late, was the announcement that the Bank of England had reduced its rate of discount to 2½ per cent, the lowest since 1898, or prior to the Boer war. Private discount rates in London have slowly been declining toward that figure, and a week ago there was considerable speculation whether or not the bank would reduce its discount rate to 2½ per cent. The news could not be said, therefore, to have been unexpected, although many bankers thought the action would come later on. The decision, however, created a more bullish sentiment abroad and prices of American stocks were substantially higher in the London market, when trading here began. It was inferred that with easier money abroad, that speculation in international markets would be more active, and that there would not be any further drains upon this market for funds.

Foreign Money Markets.

LONDON, March 9.—Money was increased in supply on the market today and rates were easier, owing to the retirement of $12,500,000 treasury bills, although a considerable amount is still owing to the Bank of England. Discounts were weakened by the continued influx of gold. It was reported that nearly $2,500,000 leaves India March 11 for London. The tone on the stock exchange mostly was cheerful. The reduction of the Bank of England's rate of discount today from 3 1-3 to 2½ per cent improved tone and stimulated business. Consols hardened perceptibly. Home rails mostly were firm. Americans opened steady, improved and became moderately active. Philadelphia and Reading and Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe were the features. The market closed firm, with Canadians sympathizing. Foreigners had an improving tendency on continental advices. Japanese were benefitted by the Russian retreat. Imperial Japanese government 6s of 1904 were quoted at 104½. Bullion to the amount of £333,000 was withdrawn from the Bank of England today for shipment to South America, and £176,000 pounds was taken into the bank. In the Oil Fields.

The South Penn Oil Company's No. 10 on the S. Newman farm, in the Littleton district, Wetzel county, is a good producer. In the Pine Grove extension, L. S. Hoyt & Co. have shot their No. 54 on the L. S. Hoyt tract and had gratifying success. The well had declined to two barrels a day, but produced 85 barrels the first 24 hours after it was shot.

South of Mannington, Marion county, the South Penn has drilled its test on the W. I. Nutter farm into the Gordon and has developed a gasser. In the Fairview district, the same company's No. 1 on the S. Newman farm and No. 1 on the B. F. Haught farm are producing 136 and 80 barrels, respectively. Near Wallace, Harrison county, the South Penn has drilled its test on the Richard Robinson farm through the fifth sand and has found no oil since leaving the Gordon, where a light show was encountered. On Salem Fork, Ten Mile district, Harrison county, the Star Oil and Gas Company has drilled its test on the Joel Randolph farm into the Gordon and has developed a light show of oil at 10 feet in the sand. RCHITECTS WANT A GREATER CITY

They Believe Annexation Would Create a Building Boom in Allegheny.

SALES IN THE EAST END

Local architects are beginning to take an ac- ve interest in Greater Pittsburgh proceedings. o them the advent of a greater city has but ne meaning—a substantial and wide-spread uilding boom on the North Side. They are in lose touch with all the big contracting firms, s well as property owners, and can voice their entiments perhaps as well as any other class f men in either city. In their opinion, based n these observations, there are dozens of rojects now dormant which would be taken p at once if the legislation for the greater ity passed this spring. Warehouses and small anufactories, for which there is no better lo- tion in the Pittsburgh district than in lower llegheny, apartment houses around the parks here sites can be bought for a fraction of hat they would cost in parts of the East End r Oakland, and store buildings on the prin- ual streets are only waiting for an assur- nce that they will not be branded with the ame "Allegheny," these architects say. In ommon with the big majority of real estate nen, they predict a considerable advance in roperty values as soon as the Greater Pitts- urgh bill passes, and are urging their clients get sites in desirable localities before the ovement starts.

Speaking of the situation yesterday, a Pitts- urgh architect who has done a large amount f building on the North Side, said:

"I have talked with the leading politicians n both sides and I believe some legislation fa- orable to a Greater Pittsburgh will be passed oon. There is not a business man of any tanding in Allegheny who would not sign a etition for the Greater Pittsburgh movement. Many of them have building projects under dvisement which are being held up solely on his account. If the bill passes there will be wo or three very busy years in building in Al- egheny and the start will not be long de- ayed."

A report was current yesterday that an offer f $60,000 had been made and declined for the Connor property at 824 Fifth avenue, near Washington street. The lot is 20x60 feet, hich would make the price at the rate of 3,000 a front foot.

Bellevue residents are trying hard to get another link in the boulevard system. Just now their council is divided four and four on the matter of paving the Brighton road from Jacks Run bridge to Lincoln avenue, a distance of probably one-fourth of a mile. Between this bridge and the Allegheny city line the road runs through Ross township some 1,200 feet, and it is thought the Allegheny county officials will take up the matter of making this a boulevard if the other link is completed first. This done, the old Brighton road, known as the Beaver road below Sewickley, would be a continuous boulevard from Allegheny to points well down the Ohio valley.

Oakmont citizens are getting in line for a special vote to be taken some time this spring on the matter of improving the borough streets. There is not a paved street in the borough now, and the dozens of city business men who have bought there lately and built expensive houses are clamoring loudly for better streets. There is probably no town around Pittsburgh where so much property has been sold at so high figures as in Oakmont, unless it had all the city improvements included.

The William Miller & Sons Company, which has offices in the Frick building since it was opened, will be located after March 11 in their new office building at 530-534 Federal street, between Fifth and Wylie avenues. PRODUCE PRICES STILL HAVE LOWER TENDENCY

Flour, Butter and Eggs Are All Growing Weaker and Break Is Expected.

Flour weakened again yesterday under the determined hammering of the wheat market bears. Wheat was weak and staggering all day long and the result was that local flour dealers were uncertain. One house declared it had not cut prices and did not intend doing so until the western millers decidedly reduce their figures. Another announced that it was shading the quotations given in The Gazette 5 cents. So there you are. That is the exact condition of the flour market. No dealer seems to know where he is at. Hand-to-mouth buying is the rule by the retailers and there are no large purchases being made nor will there be until there is a settlement of the disturbing conditions.

Eggs were firmer yesterday than they have been all week and Chicago advices are to the effect that no decided reduction need be looked for before Saturday. By that date, however, it is believed they will be down to 21 cents here by the case and the expectation of 25-cent eggs at retail will have been abundantly justified.

Butter is weak and getting weaker. Some dealers here are uneasy over heavy consignments at the recent high prices. Others are happy over having cleaned up and are getting out nicely on the falling market. The rate at which the Chicago and eastern markets are breaking indicates that another severe cut, perhaps as heavy as that of last Monday, may be looked for next week.

Green goods were selling well yesterday. Celery is scarce and prices advanced rapidly in the yards, but no changes are made in quotations, as it is thought to be only temporary. The cause of the scarcity has not been made known yet. All other lines were holding firm yesterday and business was good.

HAY AND GRAIN
Receipts.

Receipts of hay and grain yesterday were as follows: Pennsylvania—21 cars hay, 3 cars corn, 2 cars rye, 2 cars oats, 1 car straw. Pittsburgh & Lake Erie—1 car rye, 6 cars hay, 4 cars oats, 1 car straw, 2 cars corn. Baltimore & Ohio—3 cars corn, 5 cars hay, 2 cars oats, 3 cars straw.

There was an active demand yesterday for corn and this and the light receipts strengthened the market considerably. Oats are ruling firmer and at higher prices. Hay is growing scarce and the price is liable to jump now owing to the almost impassable condition of country roads, which prevents farmers from taking their stock to shipping points. The thaw of the last week has brought the frost out of the ground at a lively rate and the roads are now almost hub-deep with mud. The result is that farm products will not find their way to market readily until the weather settles and the roads dry up. Consequently higher prices in the bulkier goods, such as straw and hay, may be anticipated for the next couple of weeks. The hay receipts and the stock on hand are now very limited. Straw and mill feed remain firm and mill feed will probably hold on well for a few weeks yet, when it will drop decidedly in the face of advancing spring weather and the promise of pasture.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

A deal involving a consideration equivalent to $300,000 in cash has been closed at Cripple Creek, and with the sale all litigation between the Jerry Johnson company and the United Gold Mines Company in the famous apex fight is ended.

In circles interested in smelting securities it is reported that the proposed plan of the American Smelting and Refining Company, to take over the Guggenheim Exploration Company, also contemplates the taking over of the Federal Mining and Smelting Company. For some time past rumors of the deal have been current.

February was a good month among the mines of the Black Hills, S. D. The month's production is estimated at $790,000.

Clair G. Andrews and Carl L. Doron of the Andrews-Doron Company of Los Angeles, announce that they will erect a custom smelter at Kingman, Ariz.

The Peacock and Mountain View claims in the Hassayampa district, Arizona, have been sold to the Gold-Copper Mining Company.

Work will shortly be resumed on the Tono[illegible] the Gold Bell, United Tonopah, Central Tonopah and [illegible] Mountain, Nev.

The Liverpool Company shipped a carload of silver ore from its Jefferson county (Mont.) property last week that netted about $25,000.

The report of the Roderick Dhu Gold Mines Company at Central City, Col., shows that the company and its lessees are shipping ore daily, amounting to from two to three cars.

The Midway mine at Tonopah, Nev., continues to improve and is now one of the regular shippers of the camp. The Midway has 100 feet of ground south of the shaft in which to prospect, and Superintendent Ross Gordon is confident that he will tap more of the Montana Tonopah ledges in that direction.

Stockholders of the American Copper Company have been notified from Prescott, Ariz., that the proceedings to sell the mines and mills of that company, which came up last Saturday, have been postponed until March 15.

It is reported that the litigation on the Jumbo property at Goldfield, Nev., has been settled and the property restored to the stockholders. According to the decision of the court, the receiver is discharged and John McKane is reinstated as a director of the company.

The Utah Consolidated Company last week produced six carloads of bullion of [illegible] pounds each. The Bingham company has shipped five carloads and the United States Company four. This is 15 carloads for the three plants, or an aggregate of more than 1,500 tons of bullion.

BOSTON, March 9.—Activity and higher prices in the copper stocks are surely coming. The dividend declared yesterday on Copper Range has considerably added to the confidence in the local copper stocks and the buying today was good all through the list. Mohawk, Osceola, Centennial, Isle Royale and Greene all advanced over a point. The general amount of business seems to be gradually increasing and the floating supply of stocks around the present level is getting less and less.

OLD WAVE PROSPECT STRENGTHENED MARKET

uly and May Options on Wheat Go Up Fractionally, While Corn and Oats Also Gain.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, March 9.—Predictions of colder eather throughout the west and southwest mparted firmness to the market here today. t the close July wheat was up ¼@⅜c. May s up ⅛c. Corn and oats show a gain of ⅛@ c. Provisions are practically unchanged.

During the first part of the day the wheat arket was extremely nervous. At the opening heat was strong, with May up ⅛@⅜c to @c at $1 13⅝@1 14. July was up ⅛@⅜c t 94@94¼c. Shorts and commission houses ere active buyers of May. Small receipts in he northwest had considerable influence on nitial trading. The pit crowd in general, owever, was bearish. Shortly after the open- g buying orders suddenly dwindled and a evere break in prices occurred. May dropped o $1 12⅝, while July sold off to 93⅝c. Lower rices at St. Louis and Kansas City were argely responsible for the decline here. Weakness of southwestern markets was con- idered ample proof that the prospects for n excellent wheat crop this year will be fully ealized. Later an official forecast of colder eather for tomorrow, however, created some ncertainty on this point. On the theory that he new crop may yet be damaged by frosts, ommission houses turned active buyers, caus- ng a quick rally to 94¼c. Shorts bought reely of May, forcing the price of that option p to $1 14. For a time the price of May uctuated nervously, changes of ¼@⅜c being ecorded between trades. Late in the day the ear of damage by cold weather seemed to be he dominating influence. The market became uite firm, with May showing the greatest trength. Final quotations on May were 1 13⅞@1 14. July closed at 94⅛@94¼c. learances of wheat and flour were equal to 3,600 bushels. Primary receipts were 414,700 ushels, compared with 536,300 bushels a year go. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago re- orted receipts of 26 cars, against 384 cars ast week and 371 cars a year ago.

Trading in the corn pit was quite active and he market had a firm undertone. Commission ouses were the principal buyers, two or three f the most important ones being active sup- orters of the market. Small local receipts nd higher prices at Liverpool had a strength- ning influence. May opened ⅛@¼c higher t 48⅛@48¼c, sold between 48c and 48½c, nd closed at 48⅛@48¼c. Local receipts were 96 cars, none of contract grade.

Mainly in sympathy with corn the oats mar- et was firm. The volume of trading was ight, there being little disposition to sell. May opened a shade to ¼@⅜c higher at 31¾@ 2c, sold up to 32⅛c and closed at 31⅞c. Local eceipts were 151 cars.

SHIPMENTS BREAK RECORD OF CONNELLSVILLE FIELD

Increase in Wages Has Supplied the Plants With All the Employes Needed.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CONNELLSVILLE, March 9.—Last week saw the greatest aggregate coke shipments ever made from the Connellsville region—more than 267,000 tons. The Masontown shipments fell off nearly 2,500 tons. The total shipments from the two fields was a record breaker, aggregating 321,979 tons. It is estimated that more than 250,000 tons of surplus coke stand in the yards throughout the region and firing of ovens will be held back until this extra stock is shipped out. The advance in wages last week has attracted more men to the region. Every plant will soon be fully manned.

A summary of the Connellsville region for the week ending March 4, shows a total of 22,703 ovens, of which 21,749 are in blast. Of the 95 active plants in the Connellsville region 87 plants (21,265 ovens) made six days; four plants (208 ovens), five days; three plants (166 ovens), four days, and the 110 ovens of the Semet Solvay plant, seven days. Production in the Connellsville region amounted to 261,228 tons, an increase of 500 tons over the previous week.

The shipments aggregated 11,886 cars, or 267,435 tons. The Masontown shipments aggregated 1,948 cars, estimated at 54,544 tons.

SECURITIES HELD BY MRS. SCHENLEY

Executors of the American Will Realize Nearly $200,000 for the Estate.

MONEY FOR A MARCHIONESS

While Mrs. Mary E. Schenley owned millions of dollars worth of real estate in this country, her personal estate amounts to a nice sum. This was shown yesterday when the first and final account was filed with the register by Andrew Carnegie, Denny Brereton and John W. Herron, executors of Mrs. Schenley's American will, covering the personality in this country. The accountants charge themselves with $199,350 53 as inventoried and show that $20,390 50 has been realized over the appraised value of securities as follows: One hundred bonds of the Bellefield Company, appraised at $90,000; amount realized, $100,000; 53 shares Pennsylvania railroad, appraised at $2,915, amount realized, $3,630 80; 300 shares Bellefield Company stock, appraised at $12,000; amount realized, $19,500. Mortgage of J. L. Aronson and others, appraised at $500; amount realized, $500; mortgage of W. G. Frazier, appraised at $1,375; amount realized, $2,750.

Interest and dividends on other securities are given as follows: Pennsylvania railroad stock, $285 50; Bellefield Company stock, $750; mortgage of J. C. McClure and others, $533 53; mortgage of Hugh McElroy, $713 75; mortgage of W. W. Darley, $321 25; mortgage of W. G. Frazier, $195 25; mortgage of Aronson and others, $531 53; mortgage of M. Mawhinney and wife, $196 80; Bellefield Company bonds, $3,569 45; interest on daily balances at bank, February 25, $4,205 07; interest on deferred payments on Bellefield stock, $135 42; payment of collateral inheritance tax on a bequest of $5,000 to each of the executors, $750; total of $232,205 18.

Deducted from the amount last given are numerous distributions among which is $34,307 03, remitted to George Schenley and other trustees under the English will, and the executors' commission of 5 per cent on $231,455 18, which amounts to $11,572 75, leaving a balance for distribution in cash of $187,545 94. The accountants state that all assets have been realized upon except that of the household furniture at the Schenley home in Stanton avenue, which is appraised at $762 50.

The Fidelity Title and Trust Company filed the first accounting in the estate of Josephine W. and John R. Wainwright under the will of J. G. Wainwright. The accountant charges itself with $187,103 53, made up from rentals of real estate, on mortgages and the following securities: Ten bonds of the Commercial Coal Company, $10,000, one bond each of the Westinghouse Machine Company and Birmingham, Allentown & Knoxville railroad, appraised at $1,000 each; 10 bonds of the Pittsburgh Steel Company, $15,200.

In the disbursements an allowance of $650 is credited monthly to the Marchioness de Amodio. The marchioness was formerly daughter of the late Joseph G. Wainwright and a niece of Mrs. William M. Abbott. Her husband, Marquis Julio Amodio, is a Spanish nobleman. For some time past they have been residing in Florence, Italy.

The accountant shows a balance due on mortgages and investments of $152,184 84.

In the estate of John R. Wainwright the accountant shows a balance due of $202,202 98. Receipts from interest, mortgages and rentals are given at $237,822 55, in which is listed the following securities; 20 bonds of the Pittsburgh Steel Company, $19,000; two bonds of the Birmingham, Allentown & Knoxville railroad, $2,000; three bonds of the Westinghouse Machine Company, $3,000; 12 bonds of the Commercial Coal Company, $12,000. The balance shown is composed of $3,319 98 cash on hand and $198,883 invested in mortgages and bonds.

The first and final account of the Fidelity Title and Trust Company, which acts as administrator, pending litigation, of the estate of Mary E. Moorhead, shows a balance due of $42,181 43. The estate, which is composed principally of notes and mortgages, was inventoried at $33,500. A cash balance of $10,156.43 is shown for distribution.

LAST CONCERTS ARE TO BE MADE NOTEWORTHY

Splendid Program Arranged in Which Madame Gadski Will Have Leading Part.

The fifteenth and the last set of concerts this season by the Pittsburgh orchestra, Emil Paur, conductor, will be given tonight and tomorrow afternoon at Carnegie Music hall. The really great program Mr. Paur has prepared, with the notable co-operation of Mme. Gadski, is attracting more attention—with consequent demand for seats—than any previous concert.

The instrumental compositions are drawn wholly from Beethoven and Wagner and include three movements from the ninth symphony, the great "Leonore" overture No. 3, by Beethoven; the Bacchanale from "Tannhauser," and "Meistersinger" prelude by Wagner.

It is expected that Mme. Gadski will be given a royal welcome. Pittsburghers have always been great admirers of her beautiful voice and finished style. She is to sing the recitative and aria, "Thou Monstrous Fiend" from Beethoven's "Fidelio" and the aria, "O, Lovely Halls," from Wagner's "Tannhauser." The first is in every respect the noblest aria Beethoven ever wrote, and her selection from Wagner, familiar to all, is of a triumphant nature, for the interpretation of which she has every quality.

The public is requested to arrive early and be in their places promptly. The first movement of the ninth symphony occupies more than 15 minutes in performance, and it is a detriment to the interpretation of the work as a whole if an unnecessary wait is made between the movements owing to the late arrival of patrons, moreover, the symphony is too beautiful and too wonderful for anyone to afford to lose a note of it.

GERMANS WILL HONOR SCHILLER'S MEMORY

The 60,000 members of the German liberal societies in Western Pennsylvania are preparing for the celebration on May 9, commemorating the 100th anniversary of the death of Johann Christoph Friedrich Schiller, the German poet. Last night a meeting was held by the South Side society in Schiller-Glocke hall to arrange for a banquet which will be held on Schiller's anniversary. At the banquet of the South Siders Dr. A. J. Barchfeld will deliver an address in English, and some well-known German orator will be engaged to speak in his native tongue.

SOCIETY

Although no plans as to the hour and place for the wedding of Miss Jean R. McGinley and Edward S. Moore have been formed, the bride-elect has chosen Wednesday, April 26, as the date for the event. The wedding will be one of the most interesting and probably one of the largest of the post-lenten season, coming, as it does, only three days after Easter. The bride is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. McGinley of Forbes street, Shadyside, and was introduced to society last season at a large reception given by her mother. Her engagement to Mr. Moore was announced in Manchester, Mass., last summer by Miss Gertrude Childs, who gave a luncheon to the little circle of Pittsburgh and Allegheny people who were spending the hot months in that resort. Mr. Moore is a son of Judge W. H. Moore of New York.

King-Stewart.

Quiet, but exquisitely dainty in all its appointments, was the wedding of Miss Martha King and Dr. Charles Frederick Stewart, which took place last evening at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Elbert Jones, in McPherson boulevard. The ceremony at 7:30 o'clock was performed by the Rev. Dr. David Jones of East Liverpool, O., assisted by the Rev. Dr. William L. McEwan, pastor of the Third Presbyterian church, this city. Mrs. Lawrence Litchfield, a sister of Mr. Jones, and a daughter of the Rev. Dr. Jones, played the Lohengrin wedding march as the processional and during the ceremony gave the intermezzo from "Cavalleria Rusticana."

The bridal robe was a beautiful creation of white chiffon cloth hung over and trimmed with duchesse messaline satin. The long cuffs and the yoke and bertha on the bodice were of rose point and duchesse lace, while the skirt, made with a postillion back of the satin, was trimmed with white chiffon ruchings. The bridal bouquet was a shower of white roses and lilies of the valley tied with long streamers of white maline. Mrs. Jones wore her wedding gown of white mull. Pink and white were the colors chosen for the decorations. In the larger of the double parlors the fireplace and mantel were banked with ferns and flanked on each side by tall palms, while at one end of the mantel shelf was a cluster of annunciation lilies. Azaleas, hyacinths and ferns were used in the other room, and on the bridal table were white roses and lilacs, while white tulips graced the smaller boards. At the bridal table were seated Dr. and Mrs. Stewart, the former's parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Stewart, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. W. H. Stewart of Chicago; Mrs. Alexander King, an aunt of the bride, Robert King, Mr. and Mrs. Jones, the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Jones, and Dr. McEwan.

Dr. Stewart and his wife left for the east last evening, and before going to Chicago to make their home they will return to this city to be entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Jones. The bridegroom is general manager of the Finsen Light Company of Chicago. His wife is a daughter of the late Alexander King. Her wedding gifts, which were numerous and beautiful, were arranged in the library on the second floor, among them being a handsome silver coffee service from Mr. and Mrs. Jones. The bridegroom's gift, a handsome diamond pin, was worn by the bride.

Johnstone-Scott Wedding Cards Out.

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Johnstone of Fremont avenue, Allegheny, have issued invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Lilian E. Johnstone and Howard L. Scott, the ceremony to be performed at their home on the evening of Thursday, March 23, at 7:30 o'clock. The Rev. Dr. Thomas Park, pastor of the Fourth United Presbyterian church of Allegheny will officiate and the bride will be attended by her sister, Mrs. William E. Glover, as matron of honor, and by Miss Marjorie Wallace, a niece of the bridegroom, as flower girl, while Earl Miller will serve as best man. The ceremony will be witnessed only by the relatives and friends of the bridal couple who are to be at home in Forest avenue, Avalon, after the wedding tour. Mrs. Howard Wright, herself a recent bride, will give a luncheon in Miss Johnstone's honor tomorrow, and Mrs. H. K. Beatty of North avenue, Allegheny, will also entertain for the bride-elect. The date for her entertainment has not yet been selected. The prospective bridegroom is connected with th First National bank of Pittsburgh. His fiancee has been a teacher in the Irwin avenue school, Allegheny.

Handsome East End Reception.

At their home in Black street, East End, Mrs. William T. Lantz, Mrs. James Buchanan Lantz and Miss Lantz received their friends from 2 until 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon in honor of Mrs. George William Cropper, a recent bride. The three hostesses were assisted by Mrs. George L. Peabody, Mrs. James L. Buchanan, Mrs. Joseph J. Matthews, Mrs. Ira F. Brainard, Mrs. Harry C. Bair, Mrs. Samuel E. Gill, Mrs. Albert E. Duckham, Mrs. Alfred Hicks, Mrs. Harrison P. Slotterbeck, Mrs. Simon Rinehart Huss, Mrs. Harry C. Lucas, Mrs. Robert A. McCready, Miss Katherine Ellis, Miss Edith Holt, Miss Nell Duncan and Miss Harriett Duncan. It was a daintily appointed affair, with pink roses and white lilacs forming the decorations in the drawing room. American Beauty roses with shades of a corresponding color on the lights were used in the library, while in the dining-room adjoining were yellow jonquils and white lilacs. The table was covered with a handsomely-embroidered cloth, the work of Mrs. William Lantz. Mrs. James Lantz will entertain at cards this evening, her guests being the aids of yesterday afternoon.

Pittsburghers Please Miss Haller.

Miss Kate C. NO SUBSTITUTE
has yet been found for cod liver oil. There are so-called extracts, wines and cordials of cod liver oil that are said to contain the active principles but not the oil itself. This is absurd on its face. You might as well extract the active principles of wheat and make bread with them. The best form of cod liver oil, that can be digested and assimilated most easily, is Scott's Emulsion.
We'll send you a sample free.

SENATOR BATE DIES SUDDENLY AT A HOTEL

Exposure at Inauguration Ceremonies the Primary Cause of His Demise.

(By Associated Press to The Gazette.)

WASHINGTON, March 9.—United States Senator William Brimage Bate of Tennessee, twice governor of his state, a veteran of both the Mexican and civil wars, rising from private to major general in the latter, and for 18 years a conspicuous member of the upper house of congress, died at his hotel apartments in this city today, aged 78. Death was due to pneumonia and defective heart. Senator Bate attended the inauguration ceremonies on March 4 and his death is believed to be due primarily to exposure on that occasion. He occupied his seat in the senate last Tuesday. He became suddenly ill at the dinner table that evening.

Senator Bate was entirely conscious until his death, and realizing that the end was near yesterday, asked that he be buried at his old home in Nashville. Gathered about his bedside when the end came were Mrs. Bate, Mr. Marten, a grandson; Robert Cantwell, his private secretary; Mrs. Carmack, wife of the junior senator from Tennessee, and Mrs. Ellis of Tennessee, a close friend of Mrs. Bate.

An official funeral will be held in the senate chamber tomorrow at 2 o'clock, and the remains will be taken to Tennessee tomorrow evening.

Dinner Party at White House.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—President and Mrs. Roosevelt entertained a large party at dinner at the White House tonight. Those present included Senator and Mrs. Elkins, Senator and Mrs. Scott and Senator and Mrs. Dick.

CAPITAL STOCK ONE MILLION DOLLARS.

THE LEADER DEPARTMENT STORE, FORMERLY GUSKY'S,
Corner Fourth and Third Avenues, Fronting an Entire Square on Market Street, Will be the LARGEST CO-OPERATIVE DEPARTMENT STORE IN AMERICA,
COVERING A FLOOR SPACE OF ABOUT TWO ACRES.
MECHANICS, TRADESMEN, CLERKS, CRAFTSMEN, AND THE GENERAL PUBLIC ARE INVITED TO TAKE STOCK AND BECOME OWNERS AND PROFIT-SHARERS IN THIS GREAT ENTERPRISE.
WITH A CAPITAL STOCK OF $75,000 and a frontage on Fifth avenue of only 20 feet, this company did a cash business last year of about $425,000.
This is the most marvelous and unprecedented business done with small capital and under adverse circumstances, known in DEPARTMENT STORE enterprises.
The stock of this company will be divided into 100,000 shares, par value $10.00 each. 50,000 shares of preferred stock. 50,000 shares of common stock, full paid and non-assessable.
It is proposed to sell the preferred stock at par and give as a bonus one share of common stock with each share of preferred stock. Each and every share of the preferred stock is guaranteed a dividend of seven per cent annually.
We expect the stock of this company to pay 25 per cent dividend.
THE LEADING DEPARTMENT STORE IN GREATER PITTSBURGH
earned a dividend of 50 per cent on their stock last year. This Company proposes to do a credit business with their stockholders to the extent of their holdings in the Company. Every stockholder will receive a special discount on every purchase, exceeding all other store discounts.
This is an opportunity the like of which has never before been offered in this community, and should be taken advantage of by persons of large or small means. This is the only Department Store in the city you can purchase stock in.
The management of the proposed organization is indorsed by such prominent business firms as the Pittsburgh Drygoods Co., James B. Haines & Sons, Arbuthnot-Stephenson Co., and others.
The store will be conducted to serve the wants of the people.
Every officer and manager of the various departments holding positions of trust, for the protection of the stockholders and interest of creditors, will be required to give bond to the company for the honest performance of the duties entrusted to them. This will provide against losses that are often made possible through firms not taking this precaution.
Persons considering subscribing for stock in this company will bear in mind that there is no fancy prospectus written up with glowing colors of the great possibilities that may be done, which necessarily is required to sell stock in wild-cat schemes, which are offered in Colorado, Oregon, or other distant points.
This company will do a large mail order business, which will be very attractive to stockholders within one hundred miles of Pittsburgh.
Stock subscriptions will be received in any amounts, to be paid for in the following manner: 10 per cent to be paid when giving your subscription, and 20 per cent per month until fully paid.
Subscriptions received at
